Row at Ouster Hearing—Counsel for Mrs. Margaret F. Gregory, facing ouster from board of registration of hairdressers, today was ordered from the case by Governor Saltonstall when he intimated the governor was playing a "Charlie McCarthy" role. He later apologized and case resumed.

CAVE-IN PERILS PENN CITY

Fleeing Residents See Homes Split in Twain

SHENANDOAH, Pa., March 4 (AP)—A 16-block business and residential section of Shenandoah began to settle into a coal mine today. City officials said property damage would reach $1,000,000.

CAVE-IN—Map shows location of Shenandoah, Pa., where today the city was slowly sinking, toppling homes and endangering thousands as mine workings below the town collapsed.

Upward of 2000 persons fled their homes, aroused by a rumbling sound, then the three-blast alarm of the town fire siren.

The ground began to settle at 1 a. m. and by noon some parts of the affected region had subsided 18 to 20 inches.

Chief of Police Frank Alinsky said there was nothing to indicate how soon the sinking might cease. Such cave-ins, reported frequently in the long-mined anthracite fields, sometimes continue 12 to 24 hours.

500 HOMES IN AREA—Widening cracks gaped in the brick walls of business buildings and factories. Roofs sagged and walls bulged in many of the 500 homes in the section.

Cracks, described by townspeople as resembling "earthquake fissures," split street pavements. Some were several feet wide and six to eight feet deep.

Residents attributed the steady subsidence to a collapse of old anthracite workings beneath the section. They said the collapse probably was caused by rain that has fallen for 24 hours.

Soon after the first alarm some houses had sagged so that doors were jammed and occupants had to escape through windows. Police then organized a squad of volunteers to arouse the neighborhood, house by house.

1000 MADE HOMELESS—The area affected was ripped off. Water and gas mains broke with the first sinking. They were shut off. Meanwhile, amid fear of fires, the entire town was without water. The pumping plant is in the settling area.

Crowds from all parts of town lined the ropes. Women sobbed, merchants closed their stores.

Many residents were permitted to return almost at once to homes along streets only slightly affected. Nearly 1000 others, temporarily homeless, huddled in the rain or took shelter with friends.

After the confusion of the first scare, police said residents of the

BRITAIN, ITALY NEAR BREAK

ROME, March 4 (AP)—A rupture of the British-Italian "gentlemen's agreement" regulating the Mediterranean relations of the two countries appeared threatened today as a result of the British blockade of Italian sea-borne coal imports from Germany.

Italy, asserting that her interests were "seriously injured" by this blockade, made public a vigrous protest against the effects on non-belligerent nations of Britain's "economic war."

The note, bristling with charges of illegality, was delivered yesterday to the British embassy. The coal blockade, it said, "is of a kind to disturb and compromise the economic and political relations" established by the agreement April 16, 1938.

While the coal blockade was the immediate occasion for the protest, the Italian note included a general

IMPOUND JURORS TRYING CONNOLLY AND AIDE CONWAY

Judge George F. Leary today impounded the jury before which John Patrick Connolly, former Superior Civil Court clerk for Suffolk County, and William T. Conway, ex-common councilor, are on trial.

The jurors, said Judge Leary in superior court, will remain locked up for the duration of the trial, expected to take at least two weeks.

Connolly and Conway are charged with conspiracy to receive money corruptly from employees of the clerk's office, under threat of losing their jobs.

Also in the four indictments, which specify 37 counts, they are charged with receiving money from employees.

JURY IS SELECTED—The jury was selected after calling of 42 veniremen, three of whom were excused because of opinions, with 12 others challenged by the State and 16 by the defense.

Thomas F. Leonard of Topiloff st., Dorchester, a salesman, said that not only had he formed an opinion, but he had formed it two years ago—although the charges were brought formally only last summer.

"I have a relative working in the clerk's office," Leonard explained, and was excused.

The jury selected, with Francis T. Russell of Percival st., Dorchester, a merchant, appointed foreman, includes the following: Basil Wright, Byron st., East Boston, a painter; Joseph V. O'Brien, C. st., South Boston, telegrapher; James A. McCool, Dwight st., South End, a foreman; Frederick J. Ellis, Greenleaf st., Back Bay, mechanic; Richard A. Franklin, Aspinwall rd., Dorchester, mechanic.

George H. Gilbert, Cottage Park rd., Winthrop, bank clerk; Francis F. Harrington, Barry st., Dorchester, clerk; Leo A. Wood, Dunreath st., Roxbury, butcher; Solomon Rose, Franklin ave., Chelsea, tailor; Paul Nott, Beach st., Revere, WPA worker; Michael A. Lawton, Bourne st., Jamaica Plain, inspector.

Impounding of the jury followed a motion by Dist. Atty. William J. Foley and his first assistant, Frederick T. Doyle, the latter doing the actual trying of the case.

JURORS IMPOUNDED—In addressing the jurors, after their selection, Judge Leary said: "During the progress of this trial, the jurors will be required to stay here in custody of the court officers. You will be well provided for, your wants will be

British Troops Near Ethiopia

LONDON, March 4 (INS)—British military authorities today announced completion of a concentration of African territorial troops in Kenya, adjoining Italian Ethiopia on the south.

The concentration was completed today with the arrival of a northern Rhodesia unit in Nairobi after a journey of 2000 miles, made in the unit's 200 pieces of mechanized equipment.

Troops from every British possession in east and central Africa are included in the Kenya force, it was said.

Sleety Gale Rakes N. E.; Big Damage

Sleet, icy rain and a wind of gale proportions swept into New England today on the wings of a storm that wrecked telephone and telegraph lines, caused auto crashes and in some places brought a complete blockade of communications and travel through the Atlantic States.

Airplanes were grounded, some radio stations were stilled as power lines were broken, ice formed atop sand almost as quickly as public works sand-spillers tried to bring safety to the treacherous roads, and the weatherman saw no relief in sight until late tonight.

Storm warnings flew along the entire Atlantic coast. At least six vessels were asking aid.

11 DIE IN N. Y.

In New York alone 11 deaths were attributed to the gale-driven sleet which for the past 24 hours had that metropolis in its grip.

The Newburyport turnpike, scene of many fatal accidents, again today was the locale of a serious auto crash. Skidding autos collided at the Malden-Everett line with the result that one man is in critical condition. Two others and a girl were less seriously hurt.

Robert Levine, 27, of Archibald st., Burlington, Vt., a passenger in one car, is at Maplewood Hospital, Malden, his name on the danger list. He is suffering from a concussion, internal injuries and a possible fracture.

Miss Ruth Cruzan, 20, of Wellington st., Dorchester, driver of the car in which he was riding, and Meyer Goodman, 22, of the same address are suffering from cuts and bruises at the same institution.

OTHER DRIVER HURT—At the Whidden Memorial Hospital, Everett, Clarence Johnson, 45, driver of the other car, is suffering from a possible concussion, cuts and bruises.

Other skidding accidents were reported by the score throughout the State, but State Police warnings to drivers had cut down sleet and serious injuries were few.

Even the First Lady of the country, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, was storm bound when the plane on which she was a passenger from Miami to Washington was grounded at Richmond, Va.

At the East Boston airport not a plane left the ground as the danger of icy wings and impossible flying conditions caused all sky travel to halt.

2 Score Flee Blaze In South End Hotel

Nearly two score men and women were driven to the street today, some dramatically rescued, when a fire in the Hotel Roosevelt, South End, filled the hotel building and adjoining stores with thick smoke.

By stairs, fire escapes—and one man by means of a window and a tree—those trapped in the hotel in Washington st., near Dover st., made their escape.

Patrolman Frank Reynolds of Warren ave. station, after racing through the hotel and warning guests during the $2000 fire, found Miss Gertrude Adler, 25, a waitress, groping through the smoke-filled second floor corridor.

He carried her out to the street, where both collapsed from smoke inhalation. They were taken to City Hospital in a police cruiser car.

EL SERVICE HALTED

The thick, acrid smoke from the fire in the old hotel, situated directly beside the elevated structure, halted train service on the overhead system for a time.

Frank Bichekas, chef in the hotel, told police that after an oil delivery had been made, he went into the basement and saw oil on the floor, from a dripping faucet. He said he was turning off the faucet when a spark ignited the oil and thick smoke began to roll up immediately.

Bichekas ran up to the lobby and shouted the alarm to Nelson Johnson, a porter, and George Limbers, desk clerk.

Then Bichekas ran upstairs, aided two girls out of their rooms and told them to flee, then gave the alarm to his nephew, Theodore Bichekas, on the second floor.

Theodore Bichekas promptly climbed through his window, swung over to a small tree at the rear of the hotel and slid down to safety in the alley.

SAVED BY FIREMAN

From her fourth floor room in the five-story brick building, Miss Lillian Howard, 23, reached the fire escape at the rear and from there was forced, by thick smoke, to climb to the roof.

Through the smoky air she saw a fireman, she said later, and he took her by the arm, placed her back on the fire escape and told her to go down.

Searching the smoke-filled building for persons who might have been trapped, Fire Capt. Frand and two of his men found Agnes Brown, 45, hotel clerk, in her fifth floor room and guided her to the fire escape.

The fire itself was confined to the basement.

LAWYER IN CLASH WITH GOVERNOR

Interrupted today when chief defense counsel was ordered out of the case and out of the hearing room after he had intimidated Gov. Saltonstall was playing a "Charlie McCarthy" role, ouster proceedings against Mrs. F. Gregory of the State board of registration of hairdressers were resumed upon the offending lawyer's public apology half an hour later.

Atty. John T. Coan of Boston, counsel involved in the clash with the Governor, took the floor when the hearing was reconvened. He said:

"May I please Your Excellency, if I have in any way offended you or the dignity of your office, I wish to apologize most profoundly."

ACCEPTS HIS APOLOGY

The Governor responded: "The chair thanks Mr. Coan and accepts his apology. As Governor of this Commonwealth, it is my intention to uphold the dignity of that office at all times. We will now proceed."

The Governor is seeking to oust Mrs. Gregory from her $2000 a year job on charges of incompetency and alleged falsification of reports.

First witness called was Mrs. Gregory herself. She said she wished to make no further answer now to the first of the four specific charges against her.

Next to be called was State Auditor Russell Wood.

He said his report to the governor Continued on Page 15, Column 1

2 'LOVE BANDITS' JAILED; LEAP YEAR BRIDE, TWIN SAD

Young love's short and merry road to romance was marked "detour" today for two Dorchester youths, one of them a bridegroom of a few days and the other eager to follow in his pal's footsteps.

The pair, Royal Bellville, 19, and William O'Brien, 19, both of Mapes st., faced Dorchester court in connection with two handbag snatchings.

Standing by the accused were 16-year-old twin sisters, Mildred Clark of Larkin st., Roxbury, who wed Bellville on Leap Day, and Elsie Clark who had planned to marry O'Brien on Thursday.

O'Brien wept as Judge Richard M. Walsh sentenced him to a year in the House of Correction. Bellville was given a six months' sentence. Both appealed and were held, O'Brien in $3000 and his companion in $2000.

Neither of the girls was in court, but their tale of romance was revealed by police, who said the youths confessed they had snatched a total of $26.90 in handbags from two women within a week to finance love's dream.

WED LEAP YEAR DAY

Royal purchased a wedding ring, and with the O'Brien youth acting as best man and Elsie as bridesmaid, he and Mildred were married by a justice of the peace in the South End. William and Elsie planned to be married this Thursday, the boy said.

Mildred and Elsie visited their sweethearts in their station cells.

Despite the fact that they were innocent victims and had not known of their sweethearts' activities, the two girls promised to stand by them. When they left they said that they were making efforts to obtain the youths' release and were attempting to raise funds in order to make restitution.

Lack of funds to obtain marriage licenses, wedding rings and pay for the other preliminaries to their marriages started the two boys off on their crime careers, police said.

SNATCH HANDBAG

So, 48 hours before the Leap Year Day marriage of Royal and Mildred, the two boys snatched a purse from Mrs. Helena Eaton, of Dorchester ave., Dorchester, police charged. In the bag were $14 and a diamond ring, which police say the boys confessed pawning for $10.

Two days later, they stole a handbag from another woman police say.

Betsey Presses Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, March 4 (AP)—Betsey Cushing Roosevelt was due back in Superior Court today to press her divorce action against her husband, James, eldest son of the President.

Mrs. Roosevelt appeared Friday to describe how her husband first asked his freedom nearly two years ago. She accuses him of desertion and cruelty.

The hearing could not be completed at that time because of the sudden illness of her brother, Henry K. Cushing. His testimony was expected today.

JUST BEFORE THE APOLOGY—Ordered from hearing room in which ouster proceedings against Mrs. Margaret F. Gregory of State Board of Registration of Hairdressers was being heard before Governor Saltonstall, Atty. John T. DR. KARL MUCK DIES AT 80

STUTTGART, Germany, March 4 (AP)—Dr. Karl Muck, celebrated interpreter of Wagnerian music at Bayreuth festivals, and former conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, died today at the age of 80.

He conducted the Boston Symphony from 1912 to 1918.

Dr. Muck's last appearance as a national music figure was during the Leipzig observance of the 50th anniversary of Richard Wagner's death in February, 1933. At that time Hitler had just come into power and he sat in the front row of the famous Gewandhaus. On the occasion of his last birthday, Dr. Muck was awarded the Order of the German Eagle by Hitler himself.

Dr. Karl Muck

Muck's "Love" Affair Here Bared by War

Boston figured strangely and fatefully in the life of Dr. Muck, for here he won perhaps his greatest acclaim, yet here also he found romance, heartbreak—and disgrace!

It was the great German conductor's internment as an enemy which ended his second and final engagement with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

He had come here, the idol of the music-loving world, in 1912.

Six years later, in 1918, the action

the U. S. government took against him revealed him as having carried on a clandestine love affair with a young Boston and Milton society girl and of having played a hypocrite's role here, accepting the adulation of the Boston public, yet privately regarding his American admirers as "curs" and "swine."

SCORN FOR AMERICANS

Dr. Muck's impassioned letters to the Boston girl he duped were instrumental in bringing his internment.

They were filled alternately with denunciations of America and American "obtuseness" and "commercialism" and with promises to divorce his German wife and marry his youthful sweetheart here.

Muck wrote that he could scarcely force himself to wield his Boston Symphony Orchestra baton, so deeply did he despise his hearers and so scornful was he of this city's musical taste.

The convincing nature of the proof contained in Muck's love letters was sufficient to keep him interned until the World War's end.

This was in spite of the fact that tremendous influence was brought to bear in his behalf.

WIFE'S HEART BROKEN

He went home to Germany after the war embittered with the United States and none too welcome, at first, in his own native land, under its post-war government.

His wife died in 1921, reportedly heartbroken over revelation of her husband's faithlessness. Yet when the Boston girl whom Muck had courted went herself to Germany, the famous conductor did not renew the old affair, did not take advantage of his freedom to offer her the marriage he had promised.

He spent his declining years in the Stuttgart home of his Niece, the famous actress, Eleanore von Scholley, daughter of former German Consul General von Scholley who was stationed at New York at the outbreak of the World War and who was Muck's companion and confidant during their U. S. internment.

Moynihan Loses First K. C. Tilt

Judge Frederic Greenhalge, in equity motions sessions of superior court, today denied application of Patrick J. Moynihan, state commissioner of administration and finance, for an injunction restraining the Knights of Columbus from putting him on trial tomorrow at New Haven, Ct.

It was stipulated at the hearing, however, that Moynihan's insurance policies in the organization will remain in full force pending determination of the Knights of Columbus proceedings against him. Moynihan was suspended from the order on Jan. 3 as a result of charges made by him in a speech last August at the national convention.

He charged in the speech that $787,104 was transferred by trustees of the K. of C. mortuary fund during the past six years for payment of salaries and expenses of officials, in violation of law.

Moves to Bar 100 'Mattress Voters'

Names of 100 persons believed to be illegally registered as voters in Roxbury, South End and Back Bay are in possession of the Boston Election Commission, it was learned today.

This was the first fruit of the drive opened by the commission late last week to root "mattress voters" from city registration lists.

A total of 23,000 questionnaires addressed to residents of Boston lodging houses have been placed in the mails during the past 72 hours.

Two thousand of these questionnaires, properly filled out, have been returned by mail to the commission by legitimate residents of these houses.

100 ADDRESSES UNKNOWN

With this flood of mail came today 100 questionnaires which lodging house owners reported were addressed to persons unknown to them.

Names of these persons will soon be dropped from the voting lists, but before formal action is taken the election commission will send a second communication to each man and woman listed in which the registrant will be invited to call at City Hall and present proof that they reside in the premises at which they are listed.

Action was taken as a result of legislation enacted last year which empowers the commission to send such questionnaires to every person listed as a resident of a lodging house or hotel.

BARRED FROM VOTING

Under the new law, names of those who fail to respond will be stricken from the voting lists and those who are police listed but not registered will be barred from participating in elections.

Each questionnaire required the resident to state length of residence in present home and to list previous addresses.

Numerous charges of mattress voting have been made to the commission in the past but until this year the commissioners were able to make only limited effort to correct the condition.

ENJOIN TIMILTY AGAIN

The second temporary injunction within a week against Walter H. Timilty, brother of Police Commr.

Joseph P. Timilty, was issued today in equity session of Suffolk Court by Judge Frederic B. Greenhalge, to restrain Timilty and the Elk Laundry, Inc. from soliciting, accepting or utilizing police aid in promoting laundry business.

The temporary injunction was issued on petition of the Bell Linen Service, Inc., of Boston. Although, as in the previous action, Timilty was named defendant, no restraining order against him was issued.

Present in court were Atty. George R. Farnum, representing the petitioners, Atty. Francis P. Leahy, representing Walter Timilty, and Atty. Andrew A. Gorey, personal legal aide of the commissioner.

Demurrers were immediately filed by the defendants, the commissioner setting up that the petitioner was not entitled to relief in equity, and that he seeks affirmative action concerning alleged acts of members of the department.

Probe Byrd 'Profit,' Deny Him $250,000

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—An argument as to whether Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd would profit personally from the government's Antarctic expedition, it was disclosed today, took place in a House sub-committee hearing on funds for the venture.

The appropriations committee today refused to approve another $250,000 appropriation for the expedition, saying it had been misinformed last year as to the expedition's needs.

Rep. Johnson (D.) of Oklahoma, told his colleagues on the sub-committee he had evidence that Byrd, commanding officer of the expedition, was in line to "make a personal fortune."

DENIES CONTRACTS

"Has Admiral Byrd some advertising and radio contracts advertising cigarettes, tooth paste, perfumes, and other articles from which he expects to make a fabulous sum of money out of this expedition?" Johnson asked Lt. Commr. Robert A. J. English, executive secretary of the Antarctic service's executive committee.

"No, sir," replied English. "I am pleased to have the opportunity now to remove that impression from the minds of any of the committee members. That is not true."

Johnson exhibited a full-page advertisement, which he said was from a Washington newspaper, with a picture of members of the expedition smoking a certain brand of cigarettes. He said it quoted Byrd as saying:

"...cigarettes are a favorite with us. You can be sure we have plenty."

CITES PRESIDENT'S ORDER

Johnson declared that "certain brands" of various products had been ordered for the expedition. English quoted a presidential order directing Byrd to prohibit all expedition members from furnishing any outsiders with copies of any diary, chart, memorandum, photograph, or other information about the expedition.

President 7 Years, Silent on 3d Term

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt reached the seventh anniversary of his precedent-breaking New Deal regime today in an atmosphere teeming with speculation over whether he would continue to challenge tradition and seek a third term.

Third term or not, the graying President at 58 still gets a kick out of his job, his associates say. Despite reports that he is tiring of it.

Rumors continue to float around Capitol corridors that he will favor Secretary Hull or Attorney General Jackson as his successor if he takes himself out of the picture. But no one apparently is ready to state with any definiteness what his position might be when the Democratic convention meets on July 15.

In observance of today's anniversary, Mr. Roosevelt attended a special morning service at the "Church of the Presidents"—St. John's Episcopal—across Lafayette sq. from the White House. Tonight the Cabinet will entertain him and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner.

RED PLOT TO SMEAR G-MAN HOOVER BARED

WASHINGTON, March 4 (INS)—The outstanding Communist leaders of the East have held two secret conferences in the past month to adopt plans for a publicity campaign to "smear" chief G-Man J. Edgar Hoover, a high administration official informed International News Service today.

Object of this "smear Hoover" campaign is to discredit the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in ferreting out illegal and subversive Communist activities.

Much evidence of subversive Communist activities has been laid before a federal grand jury in Washington by the FBI, with indictments expected shortly.

The Communist attack on the chief G-man is separate from another "smear Hoover" campaign now being conducted by left wing New Dealers.

Object of the left wing attack is to drive Hoover out of office in order to turn the FBI into a political Gestapo, a prominent New Dealer told International News Service.

The Communist chieftains held their first anti-Hoover conference in Washington Feb. 6. The second was last Friday in New York. At the second conference, the administration official said, the Communists were angry over the fact that there had been publicity about their first session.

MAKE PERSONAL ATTACK

The administration official added that the Communists at their New York conference decided to attack Hoover on personal grounds. He explained:

"The Communists propose to picture Hoover as a glamour playboy who is spending his time in night clubs and at race tracks and shirking his duties while criminals run riot over the country."

"They decided to investigate his private life, in a desperate effort to uncover some affair with a woman. They decided to charge him with being a gambler and with losing large sums on horse races."

"I can't understand how they expect to get anywhere with such a campaign. Hoover has no girl friends, hasn't been at a race track in a year and never gambles."

Hoover already has been under attack from other quarters for his recent visit to Florida. One story charged him with wasting his time there on the beach and at night clubs while living in an $800 a month suite.

The Department of Justice later explained that Hoover gets only $5 a day for living expenses while out of Washington and that G-men had arrested more than 40 fugitives from justice in the Miami area during his visit to Florida.

Miss Florence M. Kaskit, ousted from a teaching post two years ago. The present school board chairman, Russell E. Shaw, who voted against her reappointment, was opposed by two of the teacher's champions, Leo J. Carron and Bradford Cole.

In Braintree, Norris H. Pinault, chairman of the board of assessors and a member for nine years, sought re-election on a platform of aid to the small taxpayers. Norris charged that the small home owner had no chance to fight unfair over-evaluations because of the expense involved.

The long-fought transportation problems of Wintrop was the big issue in that town, with 12 candidates for the three posts on the board of selectmen.

Reading, which has opened Sunday sports year after year, was voting again on that question.

There are several contests for other town offices, with heavy voting expected, and the polls were open from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Running for re-election as selectmen are Ross Batchelder and David Belcher, who voted for the establishment of the present bus service and have campaigned on the issue that it is satisfactory and should be continued as a permanent institution.

Heading the opposition is Fred Crocker, chairman of the Wintrop transportation committee, who advocated establishment of a private bus line to be known as the Wintrop Transportation Co. Another leading candidate is Henry Moynihan who favors a 10-cent fare to Boston, while Walter G. Baker is a sticker candidate. Other candidates are Bernard Beach, William Coughlin, Thomas Key, Samuel Kline, Timothy J. Mahaney and Fred M. Wentworth.

Twelve candidates are seeking

In Saugus, 24 are to be elected town officials from 51 candidates, including selectmen, school board, moderator and assessor, and 108 town meeting members. Heavy voting is expected.

There are four candidates for the two three-year terms on the board or selectmen in Winchester, and for the first time in many years Moderator George B. Hayward will have an opponent for re-election in the person of Raymond S. Wilkins, personal attorney to Gov. Saltonstall.

Senate Group Votes Curb on Census Quiz

WASHINGTON, March 4 (INS)—Elimination of questions pertaining to personal income from the 1940 census questionnaire was recommended by a Senate commerce sub-committee today.

The subcommittee voted three to two in favor of the resolution of Senator Tobey (R.), of New Hampshire, to put the Senate on record favoring elimination of two personal income tax census questions which Tobey said constituted "snooping."

The questions involved in the measure are numbers 32 and 33 of the census questionnaire:

"32—Amount of money wages or salary received (including commission?)"

"33—Did this person receive an income of $50 or more from sources other than money wages or salary?"

Subcommittee Chairman Bailey (D.) of North Carolina, who is also chairman of the full committee, cast the deciding vote in favor of the Tobey measure.

The full committee will consider the resolution tomorrow.

ASK BEANO DATA OF TIMILTY

In a charge that Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty had discriminated against six Dorchester fraternal organizations, City Council member Philip Austin Fish today demanded Timilty furnish the council with all police evidence of illegal beano operations in the entire city.

Last Friday the licenses of the six Dorchester groups to operate beano games were suspended by City Censor John J. Spencer on evidence submitted by Capt. Francis M. Tiernan of the Fields Corner station.

"I feel that at least four of these games were conducted by reputable organizations in my district," Fish said. "I feel that the least guilty are being made to suffer."

"The persons in charge of these games were members of the organizations. The prizes were small. They were truly amateur games as distinguished from what might be called professional games."

"The evidence against these organizations was not serious in my opinion and certainly not enough to justify the commissioner's statement of three weeks ago that all beano should be stopped in Boston."

"It would appear that the commissioner has in his possession information not yet made public and which was of sufficient importance to substantiate his declaration of three weeks ago."

"The city council wants that evidence and we want it all. The commissioner should have moved against every beano game in the city, rather than to single out these six small Dorchester games."

Informed of Fish's charges and demand for further information, Timilty said:

"I have not seen his statement and of course will make no answer. I have an idea, however, that when I do see it I shall simply turn the matter over to Capt. Tiernan."

Fish said he would introduce an order at the regular meeting of the council asking the commissioner to appear before the council with beano information.

In the meantime it was learned at City Hall that further suspensions were expected this week.

U. S. Agents Seize 3 In N. E. Beano Fraud

An alleged New England-wide, $400,000-a-year, fake beano lottery, with 150 pretty Rhode Island girls supposedly playing a public beano game once a month to determine the pay-offs to lucky winners among 100,000 ticket holders, was revealed today when federal agents here arrested three men on conspiracy indictments.

Falsely named by the accused accused trio as sponsoring the alleged lottery were the Massachusetts Benevolent Society for the Deaf, Inc., and the Drum, Bugle, File and Twirling Corps of the Central Falls, R. I., Acme of Eagles according to postoffice inspectors.

Deaf persons and their sympathizers and members and friends of the Order of Eagles throughout New England were especially marked for victims by the lottery promoters, investigators said.

REFUDIATED BY EAGLES

Both the Eagles and the Benevolent Society for the Deaf repudiated the alleged lottery and warned members against being defrauded, it was also revealed today.

The three men seized are Meyer Stone, 36, of School st., Dorchester; Oscar Plamondon, 41, of Beatty st., Pawtucket, R. I., and Louis H. Snyder, 44, of Columbia rd., Dorchester.

Indictments returned secretly by the federal grand jury here charge them with conspiring to distribute lottery tickets and literature through the mail and with conspiring to transport from state to state similar lottery material.

PROBED FOR YEAR

The indictments and today's arrests resulted from more than 12 months' intensive investigation by Postoffice Inspectors Tennyson Jefferson and Walter Boyle, who were assigned to the case by United States Atty. Edmund J. Brandon. Asst. U. S. Atty. Jackson J. Holtz, who took charge of the prosecution today, said Stone was the ring leader and "master mind" of the alleged fake lottery plot.

Stone enlisted Plamondon, who was secretary of the Central Falls, R. I., Eagles drum corps, and Snyder, who was connected in a secretarial capacity with the Massachusetts Benevolent Society for the Deaf, according to Prosecutor Holtz.

Whole Family In Suspect Car

PROVIDENCE, March 4—Police were looking only for two Massachusetts men wanted for a burglary charge, but when their coupe was halted today the officers also found a 23-year-old niece of the men, and her two children, crowded into the conveyance.

Pending action by child welfare authorities, Providence detectives also took into custody the mother, Dorothy F. Denham, of Rochester, Mass., and the youngsters.

Placed under arrest on a charge of breaking and entering and larceny—and found to be carrying a cap pistol—were Hiram W. Denham, 39, of Rochester, and Ralph Denham, 29, of New Bedford.

Let this Tag help you

This is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the prices of new cars delivered to customers. "PRICE OF CAR" means the price we charge for the car itself, including reimbursement for Federal Tax and conditioning — "TRANSPORTATION CHARGE" means a charge for transportation from factory to you, based on rail rates — "OPTIONAL EQUIPMENT AND ACCESSORIES" means the charge for any extra equipment or accessories you elect to buy.

THIS standard GM "plainview" price tag you see pictured here looks mighty simple.

It is, but once you've studied it over, you have the complete story on the price you pay.

It brings right out into the open the charges that occasion the difference between advertised at-the-factory delivered prices, and the delivered prices you pay here in your home town.

You can see how much you are being charged for transportation of the car from the factory to you, based on rail rates — how much for any extra equipment or accessories that you may elect to buy.

We General Motors dealers are marking every car on our showroom floors with this "plainview" price tag, to enable you more completely to measure the values we offer.

The merit of the cars themselves is plain to see—their good looks and good workmanship are reflected in every detail.

Yet value is always relative — it necessarily involves not only the price you pay but what that price includes — and this is true irrespective of what car you buy.

So keep this tag in mind when you're pricing cars, and if you encounter charges not listed here or that you don't understand, you're forewarned and can do your own policing.

We invite you to look over the stunning new 1940 General Motors cars we're now showing — on every count of size, utility, style and finish they reach a new high.

Examine their features. Check their quality, point by point! Then consider the price tag. Thus you can appraise for yourself their outstanding value and see exactly what your money buys.

VIIPURI HOLDS ON; 1200 REDS KILLED

HELSINKI, March 4 (AP)—The Finnish high command announced today its forces, fighting invading Russians almost at the gates of Viipuri, had repelled attacks aimed at the city from three sides.

In addition the Finns reported fighting in the Arctic region far to the north, near Petsamo, and northeast of Lake Ladoga, where—said 1200 Russians were killed.

Attacks against Viipuri were repelled, today's statement, according to the daily army communique, as the Russians attempted to advance across the ice of the Bay of Viipuri, at a second point between the bay and the Vuoksi river, and at a third point near Ayrappas, a few miles further to the northeast.

FINN BOMBERS BUSY

As the Russians continued to pour a heavy land fire into deserted Viipuri, the Soviet air force backed up the attack with an aerial onslaught.

The Finns for their part said their own air force bombed enemy columns and sites of assembly.

On the eastern flank of the Suomus the Finns reported heavy artillery exchanges in the Taipale sector, but made no mention of new Russian attacks. The communique mentioned "heavy" Russian losses in the fighting around Viipuri, but did not estimate the casualties.

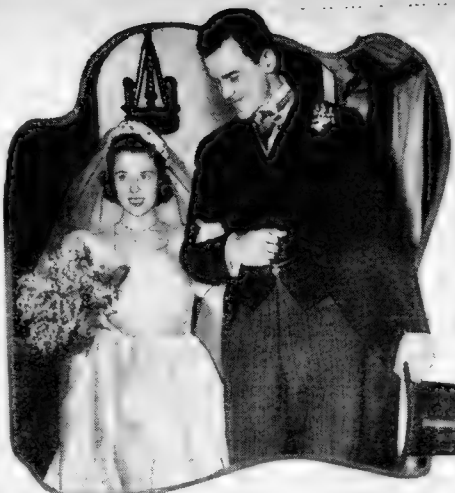

In the far north, the Finns said, their forces had driven the Russians back about two miles from Nautila, to which the spearhead of the Red army drive penetrated last week. Nautila is 60 miles southwest of Petsamo.

DOWN FOUR RED PLANES

The communique said Russian war planes had been active yesterday, supporting ground troops on the isthmus and bombing areas behind the front. Lappeenranta, 30 miles northwest of Viipuri, was described as hardest hit.

The Finns said that so far as could be ascertained there had been no civilian casualties, and announced that four Russian planes had been shot down.

Yesterday the high command announced that 1000 Russians had been slain at Kollaa, northeast of Lake Ladoga, where their attacks were repulsed by artillery fire.

On other fronts, where savage fighting was said still to be in progress, the Finnish communique yesterday reported gains on the eastern side of the Karelian isthmus—where the Russian invaders have failed to dent the Mannerheim Line—and at Kuhmo and Salla on the eastern front.

Nazi Lifeboats Found Adrift

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Navy officials disclosed today that two abandoned lifeboats, apparently from a German ship, had been sighted by a navy officer about 360 miles south and west of the Dominican Republic in the West Indies.

The only identification on the boats was the nameplate, "Hapag," code name for the Hamburg-American North German Lloyd Line. Navy officials gave no indication that they had any information as to what German vessel might have put out the boats.

"Sorry—a Mistake," Nazis Tell Belgians

BERLIN, March 4 (INS)—Germany expressed regrets to Belgium today for Saturday's incident in which a German bomber violated Belgium's neutral territory and shot down two Belgian planes, killing one of the pilots. The German government said its aviators mistook the Belgian planes for British craft because they were similar to Belgian hurricane pursuit ships.

Nazis Hail Fair as Sign Blockade Fails

LEIPZIG, March 4 (AP)—Leipzig's great international fair, in which 18 neutral nations are participating, was hailed throughout Germany today as evidence of the failure of the allied sea blockade. The annual exhibition of Germany's industrial achievement was only a little smaller than 1939's peacetime show. The United States was not officially represented.

BRITISH WAR HEADS ASSAILED

LONDON, March 4 (AP)—Rumblings of dissatisfaction with Britain's war leadership sounded in the press today with reports of the first German aerial attack in the English Channel.

A Heinkel bomber swooped on the $441-ton liner Donaula with bombs and machine-gun fire, probably killing 108 persons—the heaviest toll aboard a merchantman since the Athenia went down with a death list of 113 on the first day of the war last Sept. 3.

Never before had a German warplane raided shipping west of the Straits of Dover.

The attack occurred about dawn Saturday, but it and four other week-end blows to British shipping became known amid mixed foreboding and confidence over the course of the six-month-old war.

Although the Daily Mail found "proof of our supremacy" in the activities of the British navy and air force, it warned of the necessity of knowing "we have the right man" in the government.

"It may become necessary to inquire whether we are as well served as we should be by the higher command of the Royal Air Force," it declared, "and whether these posts should not be filled with younger officers familiar with up-to-date machines and strategy and tactics appropriate to their use."

The Times of London also forecasts changes in high places.

"New situations," it said, "are expected in time—perhaps no long time—and as in the past will without doubt demand new methods and men."

"In this country, for the first six months, power has been in the hands of a cabinet admittedly experimental and transitional in composition. No prospect of the coming months can exclude the certainty that it will in time undergo further changes in plan and personnel, adapting it ever more closely to the imperious requirements of war."

2 Nazis Slip Out of Maginot Line

BERLIN, March 4 (AP)—The story of a forced landing within France's Maginot line fortifications by two German fliers, one seriously wounded, who wormed their way back past French outposts to the German lines was told in the high command's communique today.

The communique said three French pursuit planes tackled a Heinkel reconnaissance plane near Metz.

Failure of the Heinkel's two motors forced it to land "within the French fortification line," the communique went on. The crew burned the plane, and two of them, one with a gunshot wound in his thigh, sneaked back to the German lines.

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Matthew J. Moore, 21, a student of the University of California, was wealthy in his own right but was "quite disgusted with life."

So, returning from a long visit in South America, he shot himself to death aboard the steamship Mormacdoe after writing instructions for the authorities to turn his estate over to his sister, Joan, who lived with him at Carpinteria, Cal.

That was the story revealed here when the Mormacdoe docked in Brooklyn. Police found in his stateroom a strong box containing insurance policies, bank books and stock that showed he was worth more than $100,000.

The ship's master, Jesse Hodges, told Detective Hugh Reilly that on Feb. 22, a sailor heard a shot and found the youth dead on the deck. Ship's officers searching his stateroom discovered his improvised will and a note telling of his "disgust" with life.

Moore had gone to South America on a cruise last year and stayed 10 months.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 4 (INS)—More than 2000 persons will travel here by railroad, Wednesday, to accompany the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch to his new duties as Catholic archbishop of Chicago, it was announced today.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad described it as "one of the largest concentrated railroad movements in recent years." Fifty railroad cars will be used for the trip here from Chicago and return. Archbishop Stritch was appointed to succeed the late George Cardinal Mundelein as head of the Chicago archdiocese.

Police Question Boy, Slugging, Fire Victim

Detectives today went to the bedside of 15-year-old John Driscoll, son of Dr. Daniel T. Driscoll of Pleasant st., Malden, to question the boy further concerning the mysterious caller who slugged the boy and apparently tried to set the Driscoll home afire.

Young Driscoll is under treatment for head bruises and hip and arm burns. Police found him in a hallway, unconscious, when they responded to a telephone call for help, during which the boy mumbled a few words and collapsed.

Dr. Driscoll was on a sick call at the time. Mrs. Driscoll was taking a bath in another part of the house. She told the police she heard no unusual commotion.

The boy, a second-year student at Malden Catholic High School, said his mother was in the bathroom at 9:25 p. m. when a rear door bell rang. He answered, he said, and opened the door to a man about 30, who asked if he was alone in the house. When he said his mother was in, the man struck him and he fell against a door.

He remembered nothing more until he came to and found the kitchen afire. Then he phoned for help. A police cruising car was 200 yards from the home, at Fellsway and Pleasant st., when police headquarters radioed an emergency call.

Officers Warren Sullivan and Rudolph Hokenson entered by the rear door and Officers Perley Howard and Thomas McCullan by the front door. At the rear, the officers stumbled over the prone boy.

Governor, Coan In Clash At Hearing

on Mrs. Gregory was based upon findings made by subordinate auditors assigned to check hairdressers' board finances.

Auditor Wood and Auditing Division Supt. Charles A. Wheeler denied under cross examination that there was "venom" or "animosity" in their attitude toward Mrs. Gregory.

The clash between the Governor and Atty. Coan grew out of the Governor's adverse ruling on Coan's motion for an opinion on legality of the hearing.

The Governor insisted the hearing proceed and the technical legal points be considered later. He made this ruling after conferring with his personal counsel, Atty. Raymond S. Wilkins.

Coan interrupted to say: "I feel I can't go by the decision of any Edgar Berge in this case!"

GOVERNOR IS ANGERED

Visibly angered, the Governor wielded his gavel vigorously and announced:

"I wish to ask Mr. Coan to retire from this case and leave the room immediately."

Calling of the recess followed, after the Governor had turned his glance to the State Police officers and had said significantly that he wanted his instructions followed without delay.

Labor Board Voiding Of Contracts Upheld

WASHINGTON, March 4 (INS)—The Supreme Court today ruled that the National Labor Relations Board has the right to abrogate individual contracts between employers and employees when the contracts constitute an unfair labor practice under the Wagner act.

The court specifically upheld the board in ordering the National Licorice Co., of Brooklyn, N. Y., to break individual bargaining contracts with 118 employees. The order was slightly modified.

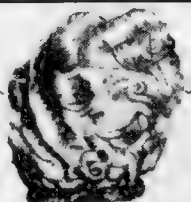

Farley Slate May Be Entered in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., March 4 (AP)—Reports circulated here today that a slate of James A. Farley for President delegates may be entered in Ohio against a Democratic organization slate favorable to re-nomination of President Roosevelt if he desires it.

Farley under Ohio law would have to declare himself a candidate before a slate could be entered for him in the May 11 primary.

taken care of and an endeavor will be made during the progress of the trial to make you comfortable.

"I am going to give you an opportunity to communicate with your homes through the court officers, and have them send you the necessary clothes. The court officers will go to your respective homes and get anything you wish."

Then Judge Leary assigned five court officers to guard the jury, instead of the usual two.

Opening of the trial was delayed by filing of preliminary motions.

Meanwhile the crowded courtroom was once emptied, then again jammed, while another through all but blocked the corridor.

The greater part of the forenoon was spent in the judge's lobby in a conference between the judge and counsel, at which he granted a defense motion to bar government witnesses from the courtroom until called to take the stand.

This first emptying of the courtroom cleared out early arrivals who had taken all available places, and made room for the jury panel and the many witnesses summoned in the case.

During the conference, Connolly and Conway, accompanied by Mrs. Connolly, were in the corridor shaking hands with many persons and with both expressing confidence that they would be cleared.

Earlier, Connolly had announced that his wife would take the stand in his defense.

Nearly 60 government witnesses were summoned as well as approximately a score for the defense.

"Confucius Say" OK, FCC Say

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—The Communications Commission declined today to bar "Confucius Say" jokes from the air.

The commission, in reply to a letter from a Pittsburgh man asking that such jokes be banned, said it did not have authority under the law to direct radio stations to broadcast or to refrain from broadcasting such programs.

11 REALTY OWNERS SUE 5 ASSESSORS

A suit against the City of Boston assessors, charging them with false real estate valuations and seeking a court order to force valuation at a "fair cash value," was filed in Superior Court today by a group of real estate owners.

Atty. Alexander Lincoln filed the suit. The plaintiffs are Roger Imory, Morris Epstein, Paul H. Eines, Lena Mandell, Hugh Mellor, Herbert L. Surette, E. Sohler Welch, Thomas H. Russell, Norman B. Smith, Richards M. Brady and Arthur W. Blakemore.

The assessors named as defendants are Edward T. Kelley, John P. O'Hearn, John C. L. Dowling, John J. Walsh and Thomas J. Dowd.

CHARGE OVER-VALUATION

The petition alleges the assessors have habitually over-valued the real property in Boston in order to keep a low tax rate.

"The respondents are about to make a valuation of all real and personal property subject to taxation in the city of Boston for the year 1940," the petition states. "As the petitioners aver, regardless of their duty in that respect as hereinbefore set forth and in flagrant violation thereof, they are about to make a valuation of much of the real estate therein, especially in the areas above described at amounts grossly in excess of their fair cash value, as the respondents well know."

The petition then asks the court to issue a writ compelling the assessors to refrain from valuing taxable property at other than its fair cash value.

SAYS DECLINE IGNORED Speaking for the petitioners Paul Hines said:

"The outcome of these proceedings will affect every city government and every owner of real estate in the state."

He said the assessors have refused to recognize officially the full decline in real estate values.

Old Favorites Back at Howard

Old Howard Burlesque Theater this week offers a pair of queens Sherry Britton and Nora Ford, as the invaders of the stage show, "Daisy Dames."

When one thinks of burlesque one thinks of them, and vice versa. Even-na here is the word for them, as it is for May & Co. also featured.

To make these "daisy dames"—as well as the audience—dizzer, there is the comedy of Billy "Cheese n' Crackers" Hagen, Max Coleman, Harry Bentley and a host of other burlesque funnymen.

Ginger Waldron will present her well-known dance routine. Other popular acts are Harry Jackson and Dorothy Sevier, Mickey Pearl, the Carlton Sisters, Sam Gould, the Chipman Sisters, Gladys Wright, the "Three Nortons and the Seven Gauchos."

Screen attractions are "Jesse James," with Henry Fonda, Tyrone Power and Nancy Kelly, and "Sudden Money," with Charles Ruggles.

PATRONS TAKE PART IN NIGHT CLUB REVUE SHOW 19

Bradford 'at Tops'; Basie at Southland

By SAM BERENSON

The name of wood-winder Artie Shaw has more than once occupied a central paragraph in these Monday Meditations . . . Of course, we might smugly observe that this situation is necessitated not only by the fact that Mr. Shaw is a sking genius but is also something in the way of a native son, thanks to his early successes at the State Ballroom.

But the larger truth is that the sight of this well-heeled Pan galloping his way through life is as fascinating a spectacle as we've come across since those nice elves rode by on a zebra last New Year's Eve . . . And to us it has always seemed impossible that this woodland sprite—who belongs to a scene from Barrie, anyhow, and not to Life—would long stay parted from the eerie tones of his clarinet . . . As a matter of fact, we wrote that here months back. So if you old sentimentalists are worried about your favorite swing maestro starving in a garret, we pen these lines to inform you that the guy will be $3000 richer this week for the three recordings he's carving for Victor; and if you think you won't hear him in the flesh again, you may rest easy too—plans are already being laid to make Mr. Shaw the major domo in a coast-to-coast hookup which will shout the wares of a certain brand of sody pop.

And while our hand remains in the back patting position, the demise of such bands as Jack Teagarden's, Bunny Berigan's (who goes to Tommy Dorsey), and Teddy Powell's brings to our mind a notation penned long ago in this wash-day font of knowledge . . . At that time we made mention of the fact that considering the number of top-flight musicians, the number of top-notch bands was deplorably few . . . Or, in brief, the regrettable habit of crackerjack bandmen turning to baton-waving has broken up many a capable swing crew . . . and while, in the main, these musicians duck poverty by rushing back to the folds of more established bands, the general average of American music is constantly being let down by such peregrinations.

Another of those fast and sparkling Coconut Grove revues makes its appearance tonight at this popular spot; featured here are Lataisha & Lawrence, an unusual dance team ably supported by Lou Spencer and Jean Forman, stars of many a New York production . . . and, not least of all, 15 purty chorus girls . . . A decided hit with the local smart set is the Hotel Vendome.

New show tonight for the Lawrence Hofbrau . . . Joe Waxenbach says it's as clever as anything the Hofbrau has featured this season . . . 'nouch said . . . Streuben's Vienna Room playing host to capacity crowds, the intimate atmosphere and the Lew Conrad rhythm making up two excellent reasons for the wherefore.

Two important personalities are being held over in town this week . . . one, the admirable Count Basie, who makes with the piano magic at the Southland; the other Lila Gray Chaplin, who continues to headline at the Mayfair . . . and starting tonight at the Mayfair Harold Lloyd's

The policy of giving the patrons the type of thing they want that it desires has resulted in the Latin Quarter coming up with its banner year . . . Sparkle, speed and variety are the keywords of all the Quarter's productions this wintry season, thus making this rendezvous one of the East's most famed and profitable night parlors . . . The Brown Derby introduces another gay show to its patrons tonight in an offering that fairly seethes from start to finish . . . here's a standout revue featuring enough beauty and talent to make this spot a must for the week's calling . . . YOUNG SCIENTISTS

Children Get Practical Training

Guinea Pig—Milton Adelman, 12, of West End, weighs one of his four guinea pigs in his scientific activities in Elizabeth Peabody house. He feeds them with vitamin C diet, two without . . . and keeps check of gloss, weight and general health of the animals.

Pure Water—Ruth Lipper, 13, also of West End, is another of 150 children at the house who are engaged in science work. She demonstrates water purification plan she built . . . using fish-tank, glass tubing, baking pan, cardboard and sheet metal in her model.

Power Plant—Albert Fumarolo, 12, is another West End child with ambitions . . . and built a model water power plant of balsa wood, chicken wire, papier mache, green spray paint, steel wool, a cheesebox, etc. Reservoir is at left.

HOUSES---ON F. H. A. PLAN

Built for Average Families at Low Cost

Roomy and Economical—A six-room house, with three bedrooms and bath, costing from $3300 to $3500, is offered under the Federal Housing Administration plan, made public by State Director John F. Mulley. The architect's drawing at left shows the colonial type of the building, and floor plans are immediately above. If basement is wanted, the cost will go up $400 to $500.

Five-Room Cape Cod Cottage, Under F.H.A. Plan, Costs $5400

New England's FHA Colony Set to Start

Construction work on the first New England colony of $2500 homes sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration is expected to begin late in March or early in April, it was revealed at FHA state headquarters yesterday.

A tentative plan, now being available with basement at given serious consideration by eight state directors of the FHA to sponsor the colony are a phase of the national FHA to bring the average low-income family comfortable housing at low cost. More than 70,000 such homes were built in other sections of the nation last year.

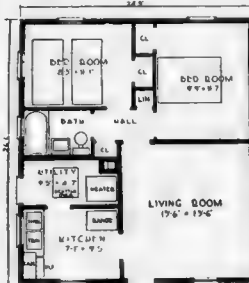

The FHA takes no part in the actual building of the houses, but guarantees the individual mortgage for a charge of one-half per cent annually. Attractive financing plans, permitting down payment as low as $125, and monthly payments to insure the borrower would be as low as $14.91 are available.

It plunged (arrow) over the railing and all six were killed. Five died instantly . . . the sixth succumbed

Cozy

Costing under $2500, this four-room house offers the advantage of two bedrooms, oil burner, and a funding plan that takes only one-tenth of the cost down . . . the rest in government mortgage to fit the pocketbook . . . 15 or 25 years to pay.

Another of the $2500 houses is shown here, above and left . . . the type that has created such a demand that a colony of them will be begun in April or March, Joseph M. Stokes, chief underwriter for the FHA in Massachusetts reported.

IT WAS Oliver Goldsmith, scholarly eighteenth century poet and profound student of human nature, who wrote:
*Hope, like the gleaming taper's light,
Adorns and cheers our way;
And still, as darker grows the night,
Emits a brighter ray.*
It is the New Englander of today who understands how dramatically true that poem can be.

BABY MARY ELLEN
Should Mother Consent?

Its meaning and message are brought close to the heart of everyone by the tragedy that has befallen Baby Mary Ellen Pike of Brockton.
Her left eye infected with glioma, a rare and usually fatal cancerous growth, Baby Mary Ellen's one chance for recovery, according to medical opinion, depends on a surgical operation. That would cause the loss of one eye and a probable reduction in the sight of the other.
Life, scarred and perhaps blinded, or death in infancy before life's struggle is comprehended—the choice is a terrible one for a mother to make.
There is not a mother or father anywhere who can fail to sympathize with Baby Mary Ellen's mother as, in the extremity of heartbreak, she rejects the proposed operation, clings to the slender thread of hope that doctors may be wrong, and says:
"I can't believe that a miracle may not happen."
Few parents would undertake to advise Mrs. Pike. It is a decision too great for the layman to make or influence.
Most parents will prefer to pray that Divine Providence will act in the baby's behalf and guide those who must determine the course to be followed.
At the same time, thousands will look at their own healthy children, cease to envy their neighbors' bigger houses or better jobs, and say:
"After all, we do have much for which to be thankful."

YANKEE ENTERPRISE is as alive and real as it was a century ago. We saw convincing proof of its power a few days ago in the announcement that Ware people, having taken over factories abandoned by the owners of what used to be the town's chief industry, had attracted new manufacturers.

Now, we see more proof. It comes this time from Hill, N. H. Ordered to vacate their homes, churches and business activities to make way for a $1,250,000 flood control reservoir on the Pemigewasset River at Franklin, Hill citizens resolved to move their community to a nearby and more advantageous location.
Here, on higher land, they will build a new village consisting of about 70 houses, three stores, four small factories, three churches and a school, town hall and library.

Instead of being under water, the town of Hill, an inspiring monument to New England resourcefulness and initiative, will courageously look out over it.

DRESS UP, MEN! If you want to march in the Fashion Parade, you will have to discard your sombre black and grays. You will have to "blossom" forth in gay shades of blue, green, burgundy and purple. That is the interesting news we receive from haberdashers.

We are enthusiastic. Boston has had a long, cold winter. It was often necessary to choose garments more for warmth than for style.

But spring is just around the corner. Easter is practically here. With every argument of right and justice on his side, Man can "kick over the traces" and wear the things that accent his individuality and make him look his best.

ARITHMETIC—We are curious. Perhaps Gen. Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, will enlighten us.

Recently, from the General's Washington office, came an interesting statistical table setting forth the estimated number of living World War veterans at the beginning of each calendar year. Among other things, the table said two men who fought in the 1918 conflict were between 25 and 29 years of age in 1934.

Since when has the United States drafted or accepted the cadets of nine-year-old children? Simple arithmetic shows that a man who was 25 in 1934 was nine in 1919.

Wonder World

IT'S just a drop of water blue—at least so teacher says . . . But wonders are revealed as through the microscope we gaze . . . We see a world in miniature where there appear to be . . . Goblins and dragons, monsters strange not seen on land or sea . . . The kind of things you see at night when, waking with a scream, . . . you hear your mother's soothing voice: "It's only a bad dream." . . . But if a drop of water can such prodigies display . . . what wonders wait within those worlds beyond the Milky Way?

Paul T. Gilbert

On the Side

HITLER continues to be influenced by astrological predictions. He's a Taurus, born April 23d. One 1940 prediction for Taurus people is "A feeling of pent-up power may make you want to throw off limitations more than ever this year." Astrologers say March, 1940, is to be unlucky for people born April 23d. Hence the many forecasts Hitler is to be unlucky in March. Der Fuehrer has always considered March his lucky month, making many major moves at that time. However, this March he will probably be influenced by the aforementioned predictions and lay low.

BRITISH AUTHORITY on grammar has officially approved sentence: "The United States are a large country." I like "The United States IS a large country" better and, after all, as Artemus Ward said: "Of what importance is grammar as long as we are good" . . . Dick Powell, the crooning actor, is probably the most married man in Hollywood. Among other things he checks all the grocery bills. Also rearranges the furniture in the living room. For a joke I started rearranging the furniture in our living room last night and my girl friend said in a voice as cold as steel: "And what is the idea, if I may ask?" I had a hard time squaring myself. It is a mistake as Oliver Wendell Holmes said, to be as funny as you can.

SURPRISING how many men wear wedding rings. Who will be the first man to submit to the wearing of an engagement ring? . . . Chicago is not the windiest city in the country, New York is. Kansas City is the hottest, Minneapolis the coldest, Santa Fe, N. M., has the most sunshine, Miami, Fla., the most thunderstorms . . . Certainly a lot of "How to Get a Man" stuff being printed. But there seems to be more fooliose men around than ever. Maybe the men read that "How to Get a Man" stuff, too. And when females try some of the tricks suggested the men don't fall for same because they have been warned in advance.

WHY DO THEY have so many blondes working in restaurants, shops and department stores? And why is it when a brunette who can't land a job becomes a synthetic blonde she immediately gets work? Seems blondes brighten the corner where they are. As a department store executive puts it: "Blondes eliminate the dullness of a store and light it up."

HE KISSED 415 girls in Kansas City? Who? Lieutenant Hobson, the Spanish American war naval hero the girls went wild about. Reporter who accompanied Lieut. Hobson on a trip kept a record of the kisses. The Lieutenant only kissed 148 girls in New York and 163 in Chicago. Why he kissed so many girls in Kansas City is more than I can figure out. If it had been Brooklyn, Denver, Col., or Holyoke, Mass., I could understand it.

GOLDEN BEACH, Fla., March 4—I forgot to tell you Saturday that we were extremely frivolous on Wednesday night and went to see where Miami's Four Hundred disport themselves in the evening at the Royal Palm Club. It is very attractive and there is excellent food and one of the best floor shows I have ever seen.

You look through the windows to the lighted palms and think the morning sun is shining on the green, and then have to remind yourself that it was 9:00 p. m. when you came in.

THERE are plenty of charming ladies in the show and all are graceful and wear attractive costumes. The De Marco dance team was featured Wednesday night and was excellent. Mr. Tony Martin sang, and prefaced his singing by telling us that, like many others, his evening's salary would hardly repay what he had left behind at the race track in the afternoon.

I enjoyed his singing and the management came afterwards to ask if he could come up and have his photograph taken with our group. I was very glad to have an opportunity to meet him.

THE FIRST LADY
At Florida Jai Ali Match

The one thing which seemed different from almost any night club that I had ever visited was the frequent flash of a camera bulb. It seemed to me that everyone on the floor had been photographed before the evening was over. There is a spirit of carefree gaiety here which is contagious.

THIS afternoon we went over to visit some friends. I sat enthralled while the gentleman of the family told us stories of some of the quaint characters who have come his way in a long and adventurous life.

Among other things, he told us of going down with a unit to establish a hospital when a tidal wave wrecked most of the city of Galveston, Tex., many years ago.

It reminded me of some of the sights I had seen along the Atlantic Coast after the tidal wave of last year.

I HAVE JUST been told about the Sacks Foundation, which was started with the idea of encouraging young interior decorators and which is now contemplating including branches of musical training and fashion design in their annual competition. The competition for interior decoration is open to students in accepted institutions in Greater New York.

The design for the room receiving the first award is executed in every detail and open to the public. The current one is now ready at 503 Eighth ave., New York city. I think as many people as possible who are interested in developing new vocations for young people should go to see what these young decorators have done.

'LIMITED' PARADE IN
AUTRY FILM

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 4—Gene Autry asked to see the newest script of his cowboy series, which Republic Films produces at a minimum of expense. "They tell me there's a big cavalry scene in it," said Autry. "Let's see it." And so he read: "This shot calls for a parade of U. S. Cavalry, as far as the eye will see—or the budget will allow."

DANCE DEPT.: One of Gertrude Lawrence's friends came to see her performance in "Skylark," and noticed that Miss Lawrence seldom stands in one spot onstage—that she's constantly moving around. "Tell me, Gertrude," the friend asked Miss Lawrence. "Who's your choreographer?"

LOCAL NEWS: Sinclair Lewis will write the next Judge Hardy picture. . . . Yehudi Menuhin, who will play the first New York Concert for the Palestine Conservatory of Music, is contributing his services, bought the first box, and will pay for his standing room on the stage. . . . Three name-bands will operate at the World's Fair dancehall to be called "The Campus," which will charge 25 cents for admission. . . . Rae Goetz, the producer, will become head of the Talent-Dept. for the Myron Selznick agency. . . . Orson Welles is getting hunk with the critics, by using their names for his program characters.

RADIO DEPT.: Sam Levenson, of "Margin for Error," broadcast on the "Pursuit of Happiness" program. The sketch in which Levenson starred first was censored by CBS. Connie Ernot, daughter of the arch-foe of Censorship, Morris L. Ernst, whose recent book is "The Censor Marches On."

PERSONALS: Puk Parris, the model, who had been courted by Burgess Meredith and Franchot Tone, made the front pages this week when she told reporters: "I am 85 per cent in love with Mr. Meredith." . . . Burgess immediately phoned Franchot's apartment—and asked to speak to "Mr. 15 per cent Tone."

TRAFFIC DEPT.: Gene Tierney, ingenue of "The Male Animal," walked along 6th Avenue, and noticed an elderly lady in front of the RCA Building, looking up, straight up. When the lady's eyes dropped, she saw Miss Tierney approaching, and slumped to the ground. . . . Gene helped revive her, and asked: "But what happened?" . . . "My dear," confessed the lady, "I thought you were a bicycle."

MONDAY MUSINGS: With every hoofbeat the great Seabiscuit wanted in the Santa Anita, and as he charged toward the wire Saturday to become the biggest equine money-winner of all time, an absorbing story was being written—and I haven't seen it brought to type as yet. . . . The story is the story of how closely alike are the careers of Seabiscuit and his jockey, Johnny (Red) Pollard. . . . The fate of these two—man and beast—transcends any of the movie hero boys and their charges, or any of the fictional rangers and their Silvers.

JOCKEY POLLARD CAME TO FAME when Seabiscuit became a great horse—at the age (Seabiscuit's) of four. . . . And Johnny and Seabiscuit both went into eclipse, through nothing of their own doing, the following year. . . . The jockey broke his leg while exercising a bad-acting horse for an owner who was so broke that he couldn't afford an exercise boy's fee at Suffolk Downs, and Pollard typically was performing an act of charity which few of the other reigning jocks would deign to do. . . . The Red landed in Winthrop Community Hospital. His injury used up the small "stake" Johnny had laid aside. . . . But Seabiscuit was not doing so well, either. . . . In fact, the champion had his worst year, and earned only $400.

THROUGHOUT 1938 AND 1939 both Jockey Pollard and Champion Seabiscuit were fighting to regain their form. . . . The Red, meantime, had married a Brooklyn lass who nursed him while his leg was healing. . . . Seabiscuit was responding slowly to Trainer Tom Smith's care on the Charles S. Howard horse farm in California. . . . When Jockey Pollard was able to get around without crutches, Owner Howard transported him and his bride to California. . . . He was given light work, as a sort of glorified assistant to Trainer Smith, at the Howard establishment. . . . They say—or at least The Red's friends, including his closest pal, Eddie Regan of Lowell—that The Biscuit perked up as soon as the little jockey who had guided him in all his major victories arrived in California.

WE DO NOT VOUCHSAFE the authenticity of that. . . . But Seabiscuit certainly did begin to show improvement. . . . The swelling in his knee that caused turf-followers to fear for his chances of ever facing a barrier again dissolved. . . . The horse seemed to take on his old spirit and Trainer Smith—the most silent man on the racetrack—became downright garrulous to the point that he was making his morning's greeting a "hello" as well as a nod. . . . A month ago Seabiscuit whizzed six furlongs in 1:12. . . . A week later he breezed a mile in 1:39. . . . Two weeks ago Saturday, Seabiscuit was entered—after being scratched out of a mid-week event—and went back to the wars. . . . The race was a minor stake but of great importance as a prep for Saturday's classic.

GARBO'S FRIEND
GETS JOB

By Louella O. Parsons

Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 4—Salika V. Greta's good friend, is leaving Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to write the adaptation of Melchior Lengyel's "The End of the Road." That doesn't mean that Salika, who pounds her friend Greta's publicity with an eagle eye and gives her advice on what to do and what not to do, won't return to M-G-M whenever Greta calls. But Salika and many other writers is on the way and can therefore take outside scripting jobs.

Hal, who paid Lengyel a good price for his novel says he bought it for Bette Davis who has more movie plays waiting for her than any other Hollywood actress.

Viertel is a brilliant writer and an intelligent woman and can be expected to give many original touches to the Lengyel story. Greta, in the meantime, is enjoying the Bermuda sun in company with Dr. Hauser.

WHEN BETTE DAVIS came on the set the day after the Academy banquet, the cast and crew had a huge basket of roses for her with the inscription: "If you didn't you should have—if we'd done it, you would have." Bette was greatly touched but said she thought Vivien Leigh deserved the award.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Katharine Aldridge and Jimmie Stewart are finding each other's society agreeable; Ruth Rogers of "Hopalong Cassidy" fame will promise to love, honor and obey Carroll Foster of Seattle some time this spring; Peggy Fears and Frances Robinson added a pretty penny to Ann Lehr's guild fund when they acted as barmaids at Somerset House and sold champagne to the gentlemen; Glenn Hunter, who created "Merton of the Movies" is in town; Marcelle Rogers and Wesley Ruggles look altar-minded these days; Ruby Keeler and Charlie Livingstone, non-professional, a Siamese-Maxie twosome.

NORMA SHEARER gathered the film socialites who weren't at the Turf Club Ball for a dinner honoring Eve Curie Saturday night. Yes, George Raft was very much there; Joe E. Brown got a rousing welcome at the Gilmore Stadium Friday night when he walked in. How they love him! Lupe Velez's cheers for Garcia could be heard in Pasadena. She was for him and didn't care who knew it. Gary Cooper arrived in town in time both for the fights and for retakes on "The Westerner."

TWO-MINUTE STORY

ESCAPE! It had been hard enough breaking through the guard line of John Hardwick's infamous prison camp, but the prospect of crossing the vast desert in front of him, looked tougher still to big Seth Calonne. With one loaf of dried-up bread and a canteen of water left (he had started with two), he plodded on.

"About twenty miles more," mused the man to himself, "if I can just make the timberline before the posse, I've got a chance."

Then, as if out of nowhere, he saw the prison touring car stalled in the sand ahead. Creeping cautiously, lest one of the posse might be lying in wait for him, he came upon the car. Its wheels buried deep in the soft desert sand, the vehicle was useless.

Looking around, he found the guards' footprints heading toward the timberline. Following their tracks across the hot and sultry desert, he came upon the two-man posse, hours later.

LOST, without the necessary provisions for a desert hunt, and aimlessly searching for his trail as their only avenue of escape, the convict (watching them from behind a sand dune) realized their hopelessness. He followed them.

It was not long afterward that Calonne saw one of the guards collapse, but his companion, hoisting the exhausted man to his shoulders, staggered on through the burning sand.

Trailing them miles farther, Seth witnessed the collapse of the second guard. When he reached them, he dragged the unconscious men into the shade of a sand mound. Opening his canteen of water, he attempted to pour some of it into the mouth of one of the guards. But the water in the canteen had dried up!

CALONNE SLUMPED to the ground, and as the empty canteen slipped from his tired hands he felt the full weight of his long trek. Later that day, when the sun had claimed the shade of that sand mound, its glaring rays found three more men slowly returning, back to the dust that had choked them.

Their bodies were never found and when people ask John Hardwick for his opinion of the story he grimly remarks, "They just didn't reach any timberline, none of them."

Maybe he's right, but then again Hardwick never was a religious man.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

SO YOU'VE MADE a mistake? And you're feeling sunk and sore? Trying, of course, to keep folks from discovering it, but if they do, you say, you'll "stand up like a man and take your punishment."

That the way you feel? Then get wise to yourself! Instead of being ashamed of that mistake, be proud that you could make it! No, I'm not saying that you should be proud of the blunder itself—but proud of the urge that lay behind it.

Think what that urge means! Here you are a lump of flesh, physically no better than any woolly worm, yet there is in you a spark which lifts you out of wormish apathy and drives you on to doubt and rebel, experiment—and make mistakes.

Thank God for that spark of His own divine fire will! It is the greatest power and privilege in human life. And stop talking about "taking your punishment" for that mistake. Get busy instead and TAKE YOUR PROFIT FROM IT!

ASHAMED to make a mistake? Better be ashamed if you don't make any! Anyone can lead a safe life, a pleasant, popular life. Anyone can escape criticism and achieve a spotless reputation. But what human with real spunk and intelligence would desire to lead such a life or have such a reputation?

Personally, I'd rather do time for horse stealing!

For one can only achieve a spotless reputation by never offending public opinion. But upon what is public opinion based? Largely on mass cowardice, stupidity, laziness, sentimentality and conceit—all of which should be considered by any sensible person, but never to the point where it stamps healthy curiosity and rebellion.

We aren't here to acquire pretty reputations. We're here to LIVE. And how can you live unless you move with Life, who is herself the greatest experimenter, the most colossal blunderer?

NO MAN seeks more passionately for perfection than a great scientist, yet Darwin cried, "I love fools' experiments. I am always making them." Darwin was following Life and he knew that Life's trail led through puddles as well as through flower beds. He loved "fools' experiments" because he knew that fools were often humble and hungry enough to take brave risks which complacent "wise folk" refused. Fools dared to make mistakes.

Made a mistake? Then swab up the wreckage, perk up your ears and start all again.

Medical Group Must Face Trial as 'Trust'

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals today ordered the American Medical Ass'n to stand trial on monopoly charges, ruling it was as illegal to restrain "the lawful practice of medicine" as it was to restrain any kind of trade.

This decision by the Appellate Court for the District of Columbia upholds the validity of an indictment charging the A. M. A. with 114 society affiliates and 21 individual doctors restrained trade in opposing the activities of Group Health, Inc., a Washington co-operative organization.

"The fact that defendants are physicians and medical organizations is of no significance," the court declared in reversing a district court decision that medicine was a "learned profession" and therefore not within the scope of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

HAVE 2 WAYS OUT

Whether the defendants stand trial in District Court or are granted a writ of habeas corpus, the doctors could ask the Supreme Court to review today's order.

They might go back to District Court and ask for a writ of prohibition to narrow the issues.

Seth W. Richardson, counsel for the defendants, said it would be a week or ten days before a course of action was decided upon.

Thurman Arnold, head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, told newsmen he was "very satisfied" with the Appellate Court's decision.

At the heart of the litigation is the question whether the law against "restraint of trade" applies to the medical profession. On this point, the appeals court said:

"We think enough has been said to demonstrate that the common law governing restraints of trade has not been confined as defendants insist to the field of commercial activity, ordinarily defined as 'trade,' but embraces as well the field of the medical profession."

TEXANS ALSO INDICTED

The indicted also include Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the journal of the A. M. A.; Dr. Olin West, the medical association's secretary and general manager; the District of Columbia Medical Society, the Harris County (Texas) Medical Society, and individual doctors.

The Texas group was brought into the case on a complaint that it had expelled from membership a doctor who was employed by Group Health, Inc.

In the indictment, the defendants are accused of refusing to let doctors employed by the co-operative use hospital facilities in Washington and of forbidding A. M. A. doctors to consult with those on Group Health's payroll.

Quarter of City Sinking Into Pit area might go back to their homes or carry out possessions—"If they wanted to."

The affected section includes almost a quarter of the town. Damage was reported within a block of the intersection of Main and Center sts.—the heart of the town. The sinking extended in varying degree from Main st., principally north-south thoroughfare, and north from one street above Center st., which runs east and west.

State Police from all nearby stations were summoned to help Shenandoah's police force maintain order and patrol the endangered section.

Telephone service to Shenandoah, a city of 21,000 population, from nearby communities in the anthracite section was disrupted.

"Some of the buildings were split in half," Police Chief Frank Alinsky said. "In some houses, doors jammed so tightly that the people had to crawl out of windows to get away."

In addition to private residences, the area included the junior and senior high schools, the rescue home and ladder fire house, the Sidel Mondour, the Miller shirt factory, an Armour packing plant and numerous smaller business places.

"The senior high school building is cracking now," Alinsky reported at 8:30 a. m.

The school is a two-story brick structure, and he said huge cracks were appearing in various parts of it.

The chief said the settling "probably would continue most of the day."

ICE STORM CRIPPLES SEABOARD

slipped and fell on their way to work today, in Boston proper the rain had turned to ice as it came down, but the weatherman warned that lower temperatures later today might cause the same hazardous conditions in the city.

Boston Communication services were affected by crippled wires from New York and other centers. Horse players failed to get their morning line information because trunk lines between Washington, New York and New Haven were out of commission. News service associations were interrupted time after time.

In Worcester county road conditions were so bad that most schools were closed.

In Rhode Island and Connecticut trees, felled by the heavy weight of ice on their branches, made many highways impassable. Telephone poles, too, were felled by the quickly accumulating ice.

TRAINS RUNNING LATE

Temperatures ranged from a few degrees below freezing in the western part of this state to slightly above freezing in Boston and southeastern Massachusetts.

Train services between all points and New York was far behind schedule. In the Bronx danger from fire was a great afterthought of the fire alarm there were put out of commission that 600 men were held out duty all through the day.

Telephone officials in New York reported conditions the worst in their experience.

In many sections of southern New England light and power outages reported service crippled and conditions unabating.

The first radio station to report trouble was the New York key station of the Columbia network, station WABC. A power line supplying the transmitter at Wayne, N. J., went down at 7 a. m.

From almost every section of the country, snow, sleet and ice storms were reported. At Santa Fe, N. M., snow piled up to 12 inches in the city limits, forcing business and communications to a standstill.

The forecast for Boston and vicinity was rain, mixed with sleet and possibly snow, this afternoon and tonight; Tuesday fair; little change in temperature; strong east and northeast winds backing to northerly and diminishing late tonight.

SUBMIT ANSWERS IN SERIES OF SIX

Solutions are to be sent in a series of six—that is, the six puzzles appearing from Monday through Saturday of each week. [One new puzzle appears each week day in the Record and American. You may follow the contest in either paper.]

When you've received the first 18 puzzles in response to the coupon, send in those 18 solutions as your first three series. Submit this week's series and each succeeding series within the week following publication of that series in the Record-American.

ENCLOSE DIME WITH EACH SERIES

To qualify your answers for a prize, the rules require a remittance of 10 cents in coin with each series of six answers. In return, you will receive a special set of Rebus puzzles at the conclusion of the contest.

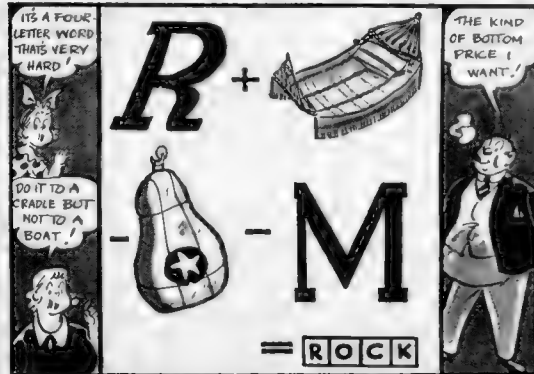

THE RULES

- 1—The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employees of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Boston Advertiser, members of their families, or any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.
- 2—Beginning Monday, February 22nd, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each week in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, c/o The Boston Record-American, Boston, Mass., before midnight, Saturday, March 16, together with 10¢ in gold. In return for remittance, contestant will receive a special set of puzzles at the end of the contest.
- 3—One hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes. Of those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores, no contestant may win more than one prize. Remittance does not count. Do not describe your answers.
- 4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles and if necessary a second, third, or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest score achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of each tie-breaking puzzle. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking

- 5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10¢ in gold. An individual file will be kept up of each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged. - 7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claim to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the contestant.

Look at the letters and objects pictured, and then observe carefully the plus and minus signs. In this Sample Puzzle, the first thing you see is the letter "R." To that you add the word HAMMOCK, which gives you R H A M M O C K. Then you follow further directions by subtracting the word HAM—which leaves you with the letters R M O C K, from which you are next told to subtract the letter "M."

Well, take M away from R M O C K and you have ROCK, which fits exactly into the four blank squares of the solution diagram which follows the equal sign. And now, read the amusing hints of the funny little characters on each side of the puzzle and you'll see that ROCK must be the correct solution!

Love and Marriage

26 Time May Adjust This Affair

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm very much in love with a young man of 22. I am 20 years of age. We were going together for almost a year, when his mother, seeing that we were getting serious, interfered.

She told her son it would be best to stop seeing me, so he dropped me, but is very unhappy. His mother said it would have to be that way, or he would have to leave home, and in that event he would lose his job because he works for his father. JANET.

Things are looking pretty black in your little world right now, I admit, but they might be worse. I'm afraid you'll have to consider the matter closed for the present, as it would not be well to force things. A little later on his mother may feel differently toward you

Fish Recipes Save Pennies

By MARTHA LEE

Every good homemaker is concerned with saving pennies. Those pennies have a funny way of mounting up until they become dollars. And here's a bit of advice on how pennies can be saved.

Through custom and other means, Friday is definitely set as a fish day. That means a great demand for fish and seafood on Friday. But fish don't live just to be eaten on Friday—they don't know anything about human customs.

Fish prices, like any other commodity, are determined on supply and demand. The supply is rather constant during the entire week, but the demand goes up on Friday. This means that with a lower demand during the rest of the week, and with the supply the same, prices are liable to be lower on the other days.

TUESDAY "BARGAIN DAY"

The homemaker can take advantage of these economic principles to secure savings herself by buying when the demand is low and when supplies are high. By carefully watching market reports she can learn what fish is most plentiful and make her purchases accordingly. Tuesday has become "bargain fish day" in many retail stores. By watching the retail fish stores every day, and not alone Friday, the housewife is bound to get a bargain.

BOILED FISH

Whole fish may be boiled, or thick slices of fish or fillets. Wipe carefully and wrap in cheesecloth or cooking parchment, and cover with boiling water. Add salt and pepper, a little vinegar and an onion stuck with a clove. Allow six minutes to the pound for a large fish and 10 minutes per pound for fillets or steaks. Drain carefully, remove bones and skin if desired, and serve with any desired sauce.

GOD O'LEEKIE

Clean, split six leeks in half lengthwise. Place in bottom of greased baking pan. Place six small cold steaks on top of leeks. Mix one tablespoonful of flour with two cups of milk. Season with salt and pen-one cup mayonnaise with one tsp. each of chopped capers, parsley, sweet pickle and three tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup.

BAKED SHAD

Stuff shad with a bread dressing. Spread fish with oil or lay strips of bacon or salt pork over it. Put a small amount of water in baking pan. Bake and remove fish. Add to liquid in pan 1 tablespoon of catsup, 1 tablespoon flour, juice of 1 lemon, and 1 small glass of grape or currant jelly. Boil up; strain and pass with the fish.

BAKED SALMON IN TOMATO SAUCE

1 1/2 lbs. salmon steak
Salt and pepper
4 slices bacon
1 small onion, minced
1/2 green pepper, minced
2 tbsp. butter
1 cup canned tomatoes
1/2 cup Worcestershire sauce
Sprinkle salmon with salt and pepper and arrange over bacon in a hot oven. Brown onion and pepper in butter, then add tomatoes. Stir in butter. Pour over fish. Bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

A GOOD WOMAN

A Complete Short Story
Daily on This PageBy CHARMION
McGUIRK

EVERY one felt sorry for Tim Dolan. As fine a man as lived, saddled with a wife like Molly. Not that she wasn't a likable scamp. For all of her far from Christian ways of living she was one of the best liked women in town, but she had made Tim's life miserable with her drinking and all.

And wouldn't you know that she'd have to come down with something expensive like arthritis?

There she was in the hospital in a semi-private room, no ward for Molly. That certainly took the money, and every one knew that Tim's alibi wasn't getting the business it used to. Certainly Molly couldn't last long after neglecting her health the way she had all her life, and when she passed on Tim would see that she had the best of funerals.

There was only one person who didn't pity Tim as much as she might have—Miss Rose Kelly. The Miss part of her name was the reason because except for Tim's weakness, Molly Flynn's pretty face and the fortunes of war Rose herself would probably have been Miss Dolan.

Two more unlike women you couldn't find. There was Molly—vicious, unsteady, exciting—and Rose, respected, steady, dull. But good as Rose was reported to be, she had never been very cordial to Molly. Not until Molly's sins caught up with her. But since she'd been in the hospital, you would have thought the two had always been the closest of friends.

A DAILY VISITOR

Rose tripped down every day to visit.

Her first call wasn't noticeably successful. Their conversation was typical of the different characters of the two women. Rose was as solemn and properly gloomy as one should be when visiting in a hospital, but Molly was still her old outlaw self. A somewhat weakened version, to be sure, but with none of the life gone from her tongue.

"How are you feeling, Molly?" asked Rose, but with a note in her voice that said an answer wasn't necessary. That said she could see with her own eyes, and a sorry sight it was too.

"I'm feeling as well as I deserve to feel."

That was a baffling statement to Rose. The only way she could interpret it was that Molly was at Rose said, "DON'T YOU KNOW little Lowell, Martha Addison, enou... in Nappy Vogel, shown that Rose Kelly was forgiving nature, a really big soul. Molly, however, far from taking this benediction in the spirit in which it was offered, replied with a definite sharpness.

"Who said anything about being forgiven? I said I'm feeling as well as I deserve to feel and if I do say so myself, that's pretty good."

Rose smiled indulgently, as if Molly had lost not only her health but her mind as well. It rather dampened her enthusiasm, though, and she left shortly after.

On her way home she stopped in at Mrs. O'Neill's house. She knew that Molly's unrepentance would be of interest.

Mrs. O'Neill was pleased to see her. She poured another cup of tea and settled her bulk in a kitchen chair, happily. Rose Kelly wasn't known as a gossip, but somehow Mrs. O'Neill found most of the most interesting tidbits of news came, apparently innocently, from those thin, straight lips.

Rose told her story now. She didn't condemn Molly in words, in fact she went to great lengths to excuse her. This noble gesture wasn't lost on Mrs. O'Neill.

"Rose," she said, "I do know you're the best soul. Any other woman would be gloating because Molly's sick to dying. But not you. You even take her part, and after she was so nasty to you."

"A BIT TOUCHED"

"I never blame people who aren't responsible. And just between you and me, I've always thought Molly was a little bit touched. Of course I've never mentioned it because of Tim. He's always been a good man and he's had a heavy cross to bear.

all set to build the extension on his place?"

An eager nod from Mrs. O'Neill. "Well, the reason he never went on with it was because he had to use the money to get Molly's brother out of jail. He was working in that cigar store and one night he just up and walked off with all the money in the till!" Mrs. O'Neill's eager eyes spurred her on.

"Then the time he was going to buy a car, he had to send the money to Molly's sister instead. She married a good-for-nothing who used to walk off and leave her for months on end."

Rose was started now and she wasn't taking any chances on stopping that rich flow of information. "Then you know," Rose continued, "he's had to practically support Molly's mother and father. The old man has the same weakness as Molly."

Both women raised their eyebrows significantly at this. Never did they speak of Molly's weakness by its given name. Mrs. O'Neill thinks the sun rises and sets in her."

This information didn't seem to please Rose. Her lips set, and to Mrs. O'Neill's annoyance, didn't open again to say more than good-bye.

Mrs. O'Neill didn't see her again for some time but she heard about her. People couldn't talk enough about her kindness to Molly Dolan. She took her jellies, soups and cakes that would have overwhelmed anyone but a Molly. Mrs. O'Neill heard too about Molly's shocking behavior on Rose's last visit. The vixen threw one of the jelly jars at her benefactor and yelled something about Rose doing all this with an eye on Tim's approaching eligibility.

Tongues clacked and eyebrows were in a constant state of elevation until the day of the funeral.

It was a lovely day. No one could ask for better. The splendor of the flowers would cause talk for weeks. It was only what everyone had expected of a Dolan funeral. They always did things the big way.

Molly's family were, of course, among the chief mourners. There was her brother Frank, cleaned up within an inch of his life, looking as if a full bill of money would be no temptation. Her sister Irene, in a new dress that you could bet her husband hadn't paid for. Her father and mother, him respectable enough until you got up close to get a whiff of his breath.

But dominating all, making their grief seem insufficient—Rose Kelly. An outsider would have sworn she was the bereaved person. Tears poured down her cheeks. Mrs. O'Neill tried to comfort her with no success.

Whenever she heard the discussion around her fresh tears rushed out to replace the old. And she couldn't escape the eternal discussion. Nothing so exciting had happened to the town in years. Here was drama and there was not one soul who wanted it to escape.

When a woman who had lived a life as reckless as Molly's, buried a good man like Tim, they were going to talk about it. They talked about the heart attack that had carried him off in the prime of life, and looked at each other as if to say, "You're next."

Mrs. O'Neill took Rose's arm. "Isn't it a miracle," she said, "how Molly got better? I never saw her look so well."

"All of that jelly and cake," Rose said, "all of it wasted."

She wept.

about Molly and her family make me sick at heart for him." She stopped there as if she couldn't bring herself to tell those things.

Mrs. O'Neill, on the edge of her seat now with expectation, found this pause very annoying. She got up from her chair and poured Rose another cup of tea, and cut another generous slice of cake. She had to sit and watch Rose take three sips of tea and a dainty bite of cake, all in silence. Rose dusted her mouth delicately with a napkin. There was never a crumb on her mouth, never a bloom on her cheek to show she ever took nourishment.

Finally, when Mrs. O'Neill had almost lost heart, Rose spoke:

"You remember the time Tim was

New England Outlook Better

Stock Prices Trudge Over Narrow Trail

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Stocks trudged over a narrow trail in today's market.

While leaders moved sluggishly, a few low-priced issues developed activity. Changes either way were in small fractions.

Seaboard Air Line turned over in 10,000-share blocks, unchanged at 25 cents a share.

Mild support was accorded Bethlehem Steel, International Nickel, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Austin Nichols, Consolidated Edison, Cerve De Pasco and Standard Oil of N. J.

Inclined to lag were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck and G. Eastman Kodak, N. Y. Central and Goodrich.

Bonds, commodities and foreign securities markets were mixed. Cheerful earnings statements and scattered hopeful news items failed to spur speculative sentiment to any great extent, brokers reported.

A little encouragement was derived from the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said the recent decline in the hard metal industry had been definitely checked although changes in the better were too slight to be regarded as a complete reversal of the previous trend. Possibilities of larger steel buying, the Review added, were seen in the steady curtailment of consumers' inventories and by the approach of seasonal expansion of requirements in a number of lines. Holders of unfilled orders noted estimates unfilled orders of plant makers have risen sharply since the start of the year, now standing at a record peak of more than $700,000,000.

AUSTEN LAKE CRONIN PRAYS FOR A PITCHING MIRACLE

SARASOTA, Fla., March 4—Their daily training stint ended, the gentlemen of the Red Sox were occupying late afternoon hours with loose-limbed chair sitting, finger nail surgery, mute glaring at the parlor maid and the little games of lobby patience that lead to meal time. On the long portico, Al Schacht, visiting from his base in Tampa, practiced his eternal character of club clown, dishing out canned comedy, "Broadway . . . hungry man . . . angel . . . 'My worthy fellow, your record is excellent. Name your dearest wish!' . . . 'One corned beef sandwich!' . . . Angel disappears . . . Flash! 20 years later . . . Same hungry man . . . same angel appears and asks, 'How?' . . . 'Hungry Man . . . 'With Mustard.'"

Always as a matter of policy no one laughs. A pickaninny's wailing cry comes from a distance, a melancholy sound like the voice of uneasy conscience. A bobo-link struts in the honey-colored sun. The silent sitters sulk. But like Viki Baum's Grand Hotel, "nothing ever happens."

So I said to Joe Cronin, whose two protuberent features—nose and chin, are burned a deep turkey red:

"If you could rub a wishing lamp and have one request granted, what would it be?"

Joe tapped his teeth and replied: "To have just one of all the new young pitchers in camp win me 20 games."

AND THERE'S THE RUB. Which? Herbert Hash, tall, saturnine giant with a high hesitant knee action and full arm sweep who won 22 games for Minneapolis last season?

Wilburn Butland, lean, angular and red-necked, with a nervous wrist flutter, a queer sidestep and an overhand motion? Mickey Harris, tawny-haired, pock-skinned New York City yokel with an irritating curve and a side arm delivery?

Ralph Waite, a pink and white juvenile from Canton? Alpha Brazle, a hairy, glum giant with a lumbering windup from Little Rock? Earl Johnson, a blocky adolescent from St. Mary's College? Which?

Nine, maybe ten, of the twenty pitchers in camp will stay through the season. And of these, six—Grove, Dickman, Heving (still in his salary sulks), Wilson, Galehouse and Oestermueller—are alumni regulars who will carry the 1940 freight. In addition Jim Easby and Woody Rich, with ailing arm and ankle, were prize rookies of the last two years who will receive patient, prayerful watching. As a shrewd, if premature guess, I would elect Hash, Butland and Harris, in that order, as most likely to displace the veterans. Yet the pitching picture compared with the Yankees' mound wealth, is not rosy.

Disaster Misses Williams by Inches

A wild heave, thrown by one of the juniors in the pitching pits, grazed Ted Williams' cap and caromed off the face of the grandstand. Ted shrugged fatalistically and went on with his limbering. The wonder is, with 30 players scattered in detached groups, throwing and batting a dozen balls, that serious accidents seldom occur. For Ted missed having his skull cracked by inches, an injury that would lay the Red Sox pennant hopes in lavender right there.

JOE CRONIN IS BREAKING IN a new, $18 pair of kangaroo-skin shoes—of which he outwears four pairs a year. He laces them on and sits around his hotel room, writing or reading. The heat of his feet and gentle wriggling of his toes, he says, shapes the leather on the foot . . . "You're a little precocious," said Moe Berg to Mickey Harris, while warming the kid in the pits. "What's 'at mean?" demanded Mickey of the pedagogical catcher-coach. "You're throwing too hard," translated Berg in simple Saxon English.

Cronin professes high hopes that George Lacey, big, lumbering Jackdassical catcher, will solve his backstopping puzzle. My guess is that Lacey lacks the competitive instinct, the indefinable quality of athletic fire, and the electric co-ordination between eye, mind and muscle. It looks like a diet of Deesutels and Penecock again! . . . Two weeks more of this and Herb Penecock, Sox chief pitching spy, will be back among the minor league weeds, stooping at the pitcher's and bowl hotels, waiting in railroad junctions and eating off counters while looking over the Red Sox breed farm material . . .

Lefty Won't Look Beyond 15 Wins

LEFTY GROVE REFUSES to predict he will win 20 games this year. He says he won't think further than 15, remarking that he will blow kisses to the skies for that number. This happens to be one of Mose's suspicions . . . never to tempt a generous fate and having a pious fancy that fortune is kinder to modest men . . . Sun poisoning has swollen Tom Days' face till his features look like something baked on an animal cracker.

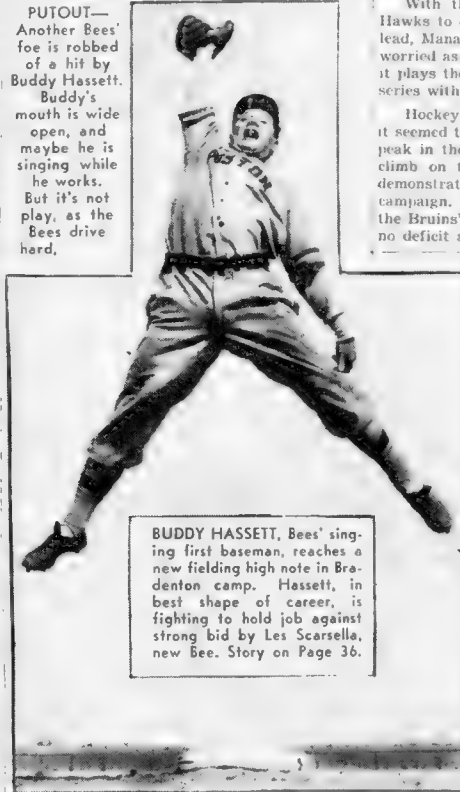

Finding a tattered urchin peeping into the blaze of light, laughter and plenty of the Terrace Hotel dining room, Secretary Phil Troy gave the kid a meal, some silver coins and sent the astonished lad on his way. Until you have seen the pinched faces of these juvenile sharecroppers, you have never seen live graveyard ghosts.

Fear Bruins Gone Stale On Eve of Ice Playoffs

DETROIT, March 4—Boston's dazed Bruins waited their plane for home today after sustaining a terrific 6 to 3 beating at the hands of the Red Wings. Penalties to Bruins helped the Wings cause, it is true, but there were signs of staleness in the Boston play as the latter club fell three points back of the Rangers in the N. H. L. standings.

PUTOUT—Another Bees' foe is robbed of a hit by Buddy Hassett.

Buddy's mouth is wide open, and maybe he is singing while he works. But it's not play, as the Bees drive hard, BUDDY HASSETT, Bees' singing first baseman, reaches a new fielding high note in Bradenton camp. Hassett, in best shape of career, is fighting to hold job against strong bid by Les Scarsella, new Bee. Story on Page 36.

With the Rangers winning over the Black Hawks to clinch for the time being their league lead, Manager Art Ross of the Bruins appeared worried as he led his club back to Boston, where it plays the eighth and final game of the year's series with the Red Wings tomorrow night.

Hockey experts here said after the game that it seemed the Bruins might have gone over their peak in their desperate and successful surge to climb on the Rangers' heels after a sluggish demonstration through the early weeks of the campaign. The tremendous effort involved in the Bruins' rush to catch the Rangers, who had no deficit at any time to make up, was thought to have taken its toll of the Hub defenders of the world hockey throne.

Tomorrow night's game on their home rink is expected to tell the story. If the Bruins come back, Ross can rest easy; if the home crowd can't spur them to victory, Art will start adding wrinkles to his corrugated brow.

Penalties began to knife Boston

Red Ruffing Signs Contract

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4 (INS)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York World Champion Yankees, today announced that moundsman Red Ruffing had signed his 1940 contract.

The hurler signed his contract shortly before noon. Its exact terms were not revealed, but it was reliably reported that the pitcher would receive approximately $23,000.

With the signing of Ruffing, only two major holdout problems faced Manager McCarthy. Joe DiMaggio and Red Rolfe have not yet signed.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 4 (AP)—T. Evelyn Skinner, of Manchester, a Boston University law student, won the annual Class C downhill skiing race on the three-quarter mile trail at Uncaneon Mountain in one minute and 45 seconds.

Richard Gallaher of Andover, Mass., two and a half seconds later, was second.

Mueller Wins

LA CROSSE, Wis., March 4 (AP)—Max Mueller of Detroit won the Central U. S. Ski Association's combined slalom and downhill skiing championship at the picturesque snow bowl here.

HASSETT FIGHTS TO HOLD BEE JOB; GULLEDGE A STAR

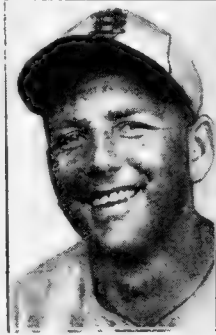

By BILL GRIMES
BRADENTON, Fla., March 4—Although the entire squad is not due to report until Friday, most of the players under Bees' contracts are in town. . . . Exceptions are Eddie Miller, Hank Majeski, Rabbit Warstler, Bill Shuster, Debs Gams, Jimmy Outlaw, Chet Clemens and Al Piechota. . . .

The boys jumped the gun to get off to a fast start. . . . Johnny Corey commutes from Sarasota. . . . His mother, who spent two months with him, has returned to Canton, R. I. . . . Bill Swift has a home in Lakeland. . . . Bill has never trained with a ball club in Florida but he has lived here five winters.

George Barnicle is a lover of dogs. He spent two hours the other evening nursing a sick canine. . . . Jack and Eddie Onslow went deep sea fishing yesterday. . . . Eddie caught the fish to the tune of Jack's "barbering". . . . Don French, purchased from Indianapolis, is one of the hardest workers in camp. . . . He is training along the same lines that Jim Turner did the spring before the Tennessee milkman won 24 games. . . . Billy Wiselmann would rather play ball than eat. . . . He's the toughest one in camp to "get down".

Between his morning workouts on the diamond and golf in the afternoon, Buddy Hassett is in great shape. . . . He has a battle on his hands judging from the way Leo Scarsella is coveting around first base and smacking the old apple.

POSEDEL, HAPPY
Bob Quinn has completely recovered from the cold he had when he left home to sit in on the rules committee meeting with Judge Landis at Clearwater a month ago. . . . In fact, he's in better condition than for a year past. . . . Bill Poseidel is still trying to figure out how he was listed as a hold-out. . . . "Why should I hold out?" asked Bill. "Bob Quinn gave me a very substantial increase in salary and I hope to have even a better year and qualify for another bonus."

BOB LOANE

Chet Clemens couldn't afford to accept Bob Quinn's invitation to report here with the rookies. . . . He's the sole support of his family and didn't get any regular work until after the first of the year. . . . He's employed by an airplane company in California, and is expected in this week.

CASEY HALTS GOLF
Frank Lamana is a "ringer" for Joe Di Maggio. . . . and Joe Antolok resembles Uncle Di Maggio. . . . In a recent Yarnagun game, after he had been tossed out at first, Antolok tossed to Eddie Onslow, who was the base umpire and said "I should have had a walk but what chance has a Russian

Bulletin

BRADENTON, Fla., March 4—Manager Casey Stengel called off the Bees' morning practice session today because of rain, although the city fathers hated to admit it. . . .

against a couple of Irishmen. . . . Tom Earley was calling balls and strikes and Joe Callahan was pitching. . . .

There'll be no more golf except on off days, until the season gets underway. . . . O r d e r a from Boss Stengel. . . . Jack Onslow shed 15 pounds in about a week, hitting fungoes. . . . Bob Coleman, who manages the Bees' farm at Evansville, is in the middle. . . . He's here to get his share of the rookies but the Onslows are ganging up on him. . . . Jack will handle Hartford and Eddie will have the Bradford club.

Casey Stengel picked up two fine-looking youngsters in George Metkovich and Wilbur Melkroy. . . . Metkovich is left handed and a real fancy Dan around first base. . . . He's a six-footer, only 18 years of age. . . . Melkroy is a right handed pitcher, less than 20 years old and very smart out on that rubber. . . . Incidentally, Melkroy hit the longest drive made at the 9th St. Grounds this spring, a line drive which tore through the trees beyond the left field fence.

Pat Rago, the former East Boston High pitcher, is making the grade as the clubhouse boy. . . . His pal Jimmy Bibber, who came down with him, has been signed up by Duffy Lewis as a ticket taker.

George Murphy and Jack Scott, the royal rooters from Lewiston, Me., are going to spend a few days this week in Miami. . . . Did you ever see a foursome of left-handed golfers, other than in a southpaw tournament? . . . Well, I did. . . . Buddy Hassett, Joe Sullivan, Max West and Buddy Fisher. . . .

BAMA ROWELL IMPROVES
Bama Rowell is the most improved player in camp. . . . He's been working out at second base and handles ground balls exceptionally well. . . . His weakness is slow bouncers. . . . So Stengel plans to try him out at third. . . .

Joe Callahan isn't bearing down so strenuously. . . . He's under orders to take it easy when ever he's out on the hilltop. . . . Joe stands six-two but he's none too husky, and Of Case is watching him like a hawk. . . .

Mike Andrews has the right spirit. . . . He was spiked in a practice game when Sitt slid into third, and received an ugly cut on the little toe of his left foot. . . . He stayed on the job until ordered to the clubhouse by long George Kelly. . . . After his toe had been treated by Doc May, Polo went right back to third. . . .

Mike Sandlock is still wearing a bandage on his head. . . . Bob Loane, whose follow through when he misses makes a complete arch, nicked Sandlock and split the husky catcher for three stitches.

GULLEDGE CAN'T MISS
George Gulledge is one rookie who, barring accidents, can't miss. . . . He's laying low at present due to a Charley horse but Stengel saw enough ability in the University of Oklahoma star during the first week to satisfy him that Gulledge has what it takes. . . . A few minutes after he pulled a leg muscle, Gulledge was receiving some instructions from Stengel when someone unhooked a wild heave and conked him on the noggin. . . . "Well, boy," sympathized Casey, "you're in the clear now. They can't do you any more damage." This squad resembles a college football group. . . . I know any number of football coaches who'd welcome this bunch of six-footers with open arms.

Red Wings Take On Bruins Here

FEAR BRUINS STALE IN DETROIT STUMBLE

The Bruins, fighting to overtake the Rangers in the National Hockey League race, will play the Detroit Red Wings at the Boston Garden tomorrow night. . . . On Thursday night the Bruins will clash with the Eddie Shore-paced Americans in New York, and a return engagement will find the same two teams battling at the Garden Saturday night. The Rangers meanwhile, will not play until Sunday night, and so the Bruins have an opportunity to gain on the league leaders.

after Woodrow Dumart bagged the first goal of the evening at 14:36 of the period one. "Dit" Clapper went off for poking and within three minutes Alex Motter had tied the count at 1-1. Referee Norman Lamport featured the second period during which Des Smith led the match to the ringside calaboose. Smith's absence did not hurt the Bruin cause but Schmidt's did. Lamport called a doubtful high sticking penalty on Schmidt who was tangled with Donald Grosso, Detroit center.

wide open and kept "Tiny" Thompson from boredom. Thompson stole one goal from Conacher and the pie-up brought a face-off. This time Conacher made good with the help of Dumart at 19:41. Sixteen seconds later Ken Kilrea made Detroit's sixth goal from a break-away. Brunetteau got hold of a loose rubber and forwarded to Howe. Howe fed the pass to Kilrea as the latter escaped the pack. Veteran rinksideers could not recall when Detroit had scored six goals on Boston. And while the Wings had little too much aid and comfort from questionable Bruin penalties, they did get orchids for heads of aggressive effort although on the run of the play they were hardly three goals better than Boston.

Yanks Still Minus DiMag

Milton objected with such violence and volubility he had a misconduct as a trailer. It required Manager Art Ross, seated near the penalty box, to stop Schmidt's discourse. With a man to the good, the Wings took the lead on Motter's second goal at 14:47. Shewchuk next drew a holding penalty on Grosso inside the red line.

Frisch Glad To Get Gams

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 4 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pirates said today he has obtained Debs Gams, outfielder, from the Bees. "Gams, who is 31, is a good infielder as well as an outfielder," said Frisch, "and should be of use to us. He will report here for training within two or three days." Frisch said the deal was an outright purchase, but did not disclose the price. Gams has been with Boston since 1937.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Pretty good at baseball, the New York Yankees turned their attention to fishing, golf and other activities as Manager Joe McCarthy provided a day off. Nothing was heard from the club's three holdouts, Joe DiMaggio, Red Ruffing and Bob Rolfe, except the disclosure by a friend of DiMaggio that he had telegraphed from San Francisco concerning living accommodations on the beach for himself and his bride, former Movie Actress Dorothy Arnold.

Shewchuk barred a certain goal but Detroit got a penalty shot. Modere Brunetteau goalied at 13:53. Shewchuk's nose too carefully worded protest brought an additional 10 minutes sentence on top of the minor. Two goals in the front, Detroit held its lead to the alien. Less than three minutes elapsed in the third period before Cecil Dillon made the Detroit lead, 4-1. Roy Conacher cut the Detroit margin to two by connecting from Jack Crawford and Dumart to red light at 4:48. In the effort to further dull the Red Wings edge the Bruins momentarily lost caution. Joe Fisher snatched a gypsy puck and beat all Bruins into the goal. He connected at 9:50.

Amesbury Sextet Bows to Collegiates

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The University of Minnesota veteran hockey team held the National A. A. U. championship today after decisive victories over Amesbury, Mass., and Brock Hall, New Haven, Ct. The Gophers won over Brock Hall in the last two periods of a fierce finals battle yesterday, 9-1. Earlier in the three-day tourney, Minnesota defeated Amesbury 9-0 and New Haven downed the Clinton, N. Y., Hockey Club, 9-6, after Clinton overpowered Short Hills, N. J., 5-0, and Brock Hall shamed the Massena, N. Y., Stars, 5-4. Minnesota succeeded as champion the Cleveland, O., American Legion team, which did not compete this year.

SEABISCUIT AND Many Stings raced into the Hall of Turf Champions when they respectively won the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap and $50,000 Widener Challenge Cup race.

The seven-year-old Seabiscuit proved himself one of the greatest horses of all time when he covered the mile and a quarter distance in 2:01 1-5 for a new track record, and by his victory shattered Sun Beau's previous record for purses won. By his triumph at Arcadia the gallant Seabiscuit boosted his own total to $437,730. Sun Beau's mark was $376,744.

Speaking over the radio before the Santa Anita Handicap Bing Crosby expressed the thought of millions of Americans when he stated that he would be rooting for Seabiscuit to win despite the fact he had his own entry running in the classic.

In this space last week I pointed out that Charles S. Howard was anxious to win with Seabiscuit, and that he would permit Kayak II to wait for glory on some other day. Before the race Howard informed the stewards that in the event of a close finish he would make an effort to bring Seabiscuit home in front of Kayak II.

As the race turned out, it wasn't necessary for Seabiscuit to get any help from Kayak II. He won all by himself, and Kayak II could not have beaten him.

When at Santa Anita in January, Charles S. Howard and Johnny (Red) Pollard, jockey on Seabiscuit, told me they expected to win with Seabiscuit. I passed the word along to you, and repeated with the information last week. I hope you had at least $2 on Seabiscuit to win.

Our Florida information on Many Stings also clicked. We had wagered $2 to win on Many Stings when at Hialeah, and when he won in the race through the stretch we gave him a top chance to win the Widener Challenge Cup.

We left the long priced horses for the day, and let the bankroll ride on Many Stings and Seabiscuit. We saved with Brown King at Hialeah, but he did not even get close to the leaders.

The victories of Many Stings and Seabiscuit made me forget the day at the Fair Grounds when I came up with five straight losers.

Now that Seabiscuit has returned to his best form I believe Charles S. Howard will continue to race the veteran. Howard will probably try to pick spots for Seabiscuit in an effort to set a high for turf winners that will stand for years.

Incidentally Dave Wilson's Winners, code book got out by the Boston Evening Americans' handicapper, gave the Seabiscuit to win the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap and also the recent $10,000 Santa Antonio Handicap.

A. A. U. President in Boston Visit

LAWRENCE DI BENEDETTO of New Orleans, president of the A. A. U., will pay his first official visit to the New England Association this week. Mr. Di Benedetto will arrive in Boston this evening, and will make his headquarters at the Copley Plaza Hotel.

Tomorrow night at the Lenox Hotel, the A. A. U. head will be tendered a dinner by members of the local association. President Herb Holm, Vice-President Tom Kanaly and Secretary-Treasurer J. Frank Facey will be among those on hand to extend a hand of welcome to President Di Benedetto.

In New England, President Di Benedetto will find that the A. A. U. has made great progress. It has been an active organization in this section of the country, and has always been helpful to visiting athletes.

I have attended several meetings that have been conducted by Gene Driscoll, chairman of the boxing committee, before All-America boxing shows. Managers of visiting boxing teams have been very outspoken in stating how fairly they have been treated here.

Athletes competing in the B. A. A. K. of C. and other track meets have expressed similar thoughts.

It is a wise move on the part of President Di Benedetto to visit all units of the A. A. U. In this way he will get a better idea of the workings of his large organization. In these troubled times, the A. A. U. is in a position to be of national service by keeping the youth of the country interested in athletic events conducted under the proper supervision.

Called Off

Rain Halts Sox Practice

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 4.—Rain fell here during the night and early morning, forcing the Red Sox to call off morning practice. As a result, the Regulars, who were scheduled to work out this morning, were to double up with the Rookies in their afternoon drill.

It was the first time in three years that a practice session has been called off here. Arrivals in camp this morning were Marvin Owen, Jimmie Foxx and Lou Finney. Missing at noon time were Jim Tabor, Bobby Doerr and Doc Cramer.

No further word has been received from holdout Pitcher Joe Heving.

The two mostly highly publicized ball players over the winter months were a couple of 22-year-olds, Berny McCoy and Dominic D-Maggio.

McCoy has played but 55 major league ball games. The other has never even seen a big league park. The one was made famous when Keneas Mountain Landis took him off the Detroit road gang, and told him to go out and better himself. So he promptly was given a $45,000 bonus by Connie Mack for signing with the A's, and is richer right now than you will be if you play 5555 major league games.

The other was sold to the Boston Sox by the San Francisco Seals for the reported sum of $75,000.

DON LOST AMONG GIANTS

Dominic, by any other name, would be just another rookie. Indeed it is doubtful if any club ever would have paid such a staggering sum for him.

But when you have the Di Maggio tag, you're bound to be nationally known overnight even though you strike out as often as Casey Stengel's pal, brother Vince Di Mag of the Reds.

We won't see the real McCoy until April 19, when the Sox open at home with the A's, but we got our first peek at Dominic Di Maggio today.

Standing only 5-9 and weighing only 160, the bespectacled youngster looked lost among the Red Sox giants. Grove, Butland, Haash, Williams, Tabor, Bagby, Cramer and the rest towered above him.

So this is the guy who's going to burn up the A. L. this year? This is the guy who hit .360 for San Francisco?

This is the guy they figured was so good they could afford to let a robust hitter like Joe Vasmak go?

If anybody wants to bet a suit of clothes that Dom won't be an American League sensation, this year's Sailor Bill Posedel of the Bees will gladly accommodate him. Said Sailor Bill in a fanfest over the week-end:

"I worked out with the Seals for a week before I came East, and Dom was working out there, too. I never saw a finer ball player in my life. He can run and throw, and he can hit, too."

"I played against him on the Coast two years ago, and I know. Anybody who can hit .360 on that San Francisco park is a big league hitter."

"Only two have done it since the park was built, and both of their names were Di Maggio. The other did all right in the big tent, didn't he. Well, so will this kid. He can hit them long, too."

TOM DALY'S REPORT

Says Tom Daly, another Red Sox coach:

"I met Wade Killefer at the major league meeting last December. Now Wade has no reason to boost Dom because Wade was with Hollywood. But he claims the kid was by far the best outfielder in the Coast League a year back."

"Don't be deceived by his size, or the lack of it," warned Killefer. "The kid's wiry and exceptionally strong. Watch that horsebuggy whip of his!"

"And Cedric Durst (remember Ced, who came to the Sox for

LAYING IT DOWN—A past master in the art of bunting, Bob "Lefty" Grove, considered one of the best in the American League, shows a group of Red Sox rookies at Sarasota, Fla., how to drop one along the base line. Note how Grove is gripping that bat.

Charlie Raffing?) claims Dom is a better ball player right now than brother Joe was when Joe left the Coast League. They all can't be wrong."

Quoth Ted Williams: "I know the kid can play the outfield and throw. He's a streak. He was just breaking in when I saw him in 1937 but he looked as if he'd be a star. I guess he's lived up to his promise."

Quoth Mr. Cronin: "I'll tell you better in August!"

Arkie Vaughan Due in Bucc Camp

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 4 (AP)—The Pirates skipped regular drill today and staged a yanigan contest with all the hurriers taking short turns in the box. Arkie Vaughan's trunk arrived and this was taken as an indication the unsigned shortstop might breeze in tomorrow.

Tramback Shifted From Box to First

ANAHEIM, Cal., March 4—It looks like that $25,000 Connie Mack paid Memphis last fall for Pitcher Herman Besse may pay dividends for the Philadelphia Athletics this season.

Besse pitched hitless ball for three innings yesterday as the A's trounced Seattle of the Pacific Coast League 6-3 in the first exhibition game of 1940.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—Steve Tramback, who won 21 games as a pitcher and filled in afield for Fort Smith last year, isn't fast enough to make good as pitcher in the opinion of Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants.

"I'm giving him a first baseman's mitt from now on," said Terry. "He can hit, and he's a good athlete. He's young enough to make the switch, and he should make it now."

Maybe Terry, one of the National League's first basemen, remembers he also tried to break in as a pitcher.

PASADENA, Cal.—The second squad of the Chicago White Sox is due here today and is expected to bring the camp roll to full strength with the exception of Pitcher Clint Brown, a holdout. Taft Wright, outfielder obtained from Washington, featured yesterday's workout with his heavy hitting.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Some observers around the Phillies camp think the tail-enders' catching staff this year will be the strongest since the days of Jimmy Wilson.

Bill Atwood, greatly improved after a season at Jersey City, is ticketed for first-string duty by Manager Doc Prothro, with Ben Warren, a Baltimore rookie; Walt Millies and Joe Kracher, an Atlanta rookie, ready for reserve assignments.

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers have that familiar look now. Pete Fox is on the job.

"O.G. Reliable" arrived yesterday to start his eighth season and observed:

"We have a lot of outfielders, but we always have had. I don't know how well I'll do. I'll be out there fighting for a job."

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—A seven-inning practice game by teams selected from the ranks of the Pittsburgh Pirates saw only one extra-base hit—a triple by Rookie Frank Gustine. Pitchers Johnny Gee, Ken Heintzelman and Ozzie Smith each gave up two hits, but John Lanning and Ray Harrell allowed none.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Most baseball clubs clutter up their training camps in the spring with a lot of rookies, but the world champion New York Yankees have only nine here, not counting Lee Grissom, an experienced National Leaguer who is new to the Yanks.

Manager Joe McCarthy may keep a couple of the young pitchers, but the champions' squad is so well set that it is doubtful whether any of the other candidates will stick, although all are good future prospects.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—A strenuous workout for the entire squad of St. Louis Browns was scheduled for today as the battermen were joined by teammates. Only Catcher Joe Glavin was missing from the camp, but three others—George McQuinn, Jack Kramer and Alan Strange—also are unsigned and may look at the first session from the sidelines.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—While the holdout status of Joe Medwick has received a lot of public attention, there's another heavy slugger the St. Louis Cardinals probably are beginning to worry about. He Catcher Don Padgett, about whom nothing has been mentioned by the management. Medwick will meet with Branch Rickey tomorrow in an attempt at conciliation.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Another Peckinpugh has followed the trail of the Cleveland Indians into camp. Walter Peckinpugh, son of the famous Roger, who played and managed for the tribe, is trying out for shortstop, his Dad's old position.

A University of Michigan graduate, young Peck made his professional debut in the Evangeline League last year and finished the season with New Orleans. A free agent now, he probably will be sent to an Indian farm for seasoning.

ROOM AND BOARD By Eugene Ahern

MORRISON NEW COACH AT TEMPLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 4 (AP)—Ray Morrison, head football coach at Vanderbilt University since 1935, has resigned to accept a similar position at Temple University, Philadelphia.

Athletic Director Carmichael said Morrison's resignation was accepted by Vanderbilt's committee on athletics after a meeting yesterday afternoon which followed week-end conferences between Morrison and Temple officials in Philadelphia.

"Temple made me such an attractive proposition that I felt I could not afford to turn it down," Morrison said. "I am leaving Vanderbilt on the friendliest of terms with the chancellor and the committee of athletics."

It was reported Morrison would receive a five-year contract at Temple at an annual salary of $12,000. Carmichael said Morrison's Vanderbilt contract was to have been renewed at $10,000 a year. Morrison will succeed Fred Swan, who resigned at Temple recently to become assistant to Coach Andy Kerr at Colgate University.

Morrison, a great Vanderbilt quarterback in 1908-1911, coached 17 years at Southern Methodist University before succeeding the late Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt. His Vanderbilt teams were successful with the exception of last year when the Commodores won only two games.

Shaughnessy Retains Title

MORRISTOWN, N. J., March 4 (AP)—The Hill Top Skee Club of Holliston, Mass., posted a 493-500 score to retain its five-man team championship in the Middle Atlantic States skeet tourney.

The score, in spite of a drizzling rain, equaled the world's record posted by the club last year. The Hilltoppers out-distanced their nearest competitors, the Valhalla, N. Y. Cardinals, by six birds. Dick Shaughnessy of Dedham, Mass., and R. W. Canfield of Locust Valley, N. Y., sparked the Hill Top team with perfect rounds. The other three members of the club all fired over 95-100.

Shaughnessy, an 18-year-old sharpshooter, lost the all-bore championship to Johnny Wray, 18-year-old schoolboy of Rochester, N. Y., who survived three shoot-offs after five contestants fired perfect rounds.

The five perfect scores equaled the world's record for the number of possible scores in a skeet shoot. Shaughnessy, who retained his 20-gauge title, won the high-over-all championship for the best total score for the two-day championships with a total of 21x300. Frank S. Kelly of West Orange, was second, one bird behind, and Ed Garland of Belleville was third with 20x300.

Harvard Ice, Court Teams in Windups

Harvard athletic teams experienced the most disastrous weekend in many a year when every team met defeat. The winter season winds up this week and the Crimson has only the dimmest chances of salvaging a couple of wins.

The hockey team will play Yale in a return engagement at New Haven, Saturday, and the Crimson hoopers will meet Yale at Cambridge the same day. The sextet appears to be heading for defeat while the basketball team may have a slight chance since the game will be played on the Cambridge court.

JAM SESSION—Madison Square Garden, New York, was the scene of this hockey brawl which ended in the Springfield Braves amateur hockey team defaulting to the Met League All Stars. The Braves claimed that officials allowed a goal when the puck was kicked into the nets. Players tangled before the Braves trooped off the ice, handing the All Stars the decision.

8 CLASS A QUINTETS NAMED FOR TECH PLAY

Watertown, Chelsea, Somerville, Attleboro, Newton, New Bedford, Lawrence and Haverhill were the eight schoolboy basketball teams selected today by Henry McCarthy of M. I. T. to compete in the annual Class A championship starting Thursday afternoon at Tech Hangar gym.

These teams, with the entrants in class B, namely Braintree, Needham, Franklin, Newburyport, Winthrop, Chelmsford, Reading and Framingham, will complete the roster of 16 teams out of which will come the leading "small school," and "big school" teams in this State.

McCarthy prepared today to announce the results of the drawings, which will play a major factor in deciding the ultimate winner.

Chelsea is expected to have a strong battle in its efforts to gain a clutch on the Tech trophy. The principal opposition is expected from Watertown, which, under Dan Sullivan has made a remarkable record, and also from Somerville High.

Drawings for the first round, which will start at 2:30 on Thursday afternoon in the Tech hangar, will be announced tomorrow.

Colby Gridders Hold Spring Practice

The 1940 pigskin parade today began its spring preview in New England.

At Waterville, Me., Coach Al McCoy called out the Colby College football squad for spring practice—the second straight year the Mules have begun spring practice at an early date.

Spring drills also got under way at Medford where the Tufts College gridiron chief, Lew Manly, greeted 30 hopefuls.

Springfield Five Captures Title

PITTSBURGH, March 4 (AP)—The Springfield, Mass., team, defending titleholder, won the National Federated Russian Orthodox Clubs' basketball tournament by defeating Ambridge 29-27.

Springfield thus earned the right to play in the National All-Slav tourney in Youngstown, O., March 25, but because of the long distance from home, the five announced it would default and let the Ambridge runners-up play in its stead.
